Italy Gets Some Hot Bundles From Britain

The daring of R.A.F. bombers is demonstrated in this spectacular, first photo of a raid on an Italian munitions plant at Cotrone, 90 miles south of Taranto, in southern Italy. Flying extremely low, two British bombers (arrows) are over the factory, about to dump their bombs. Smoke from explosions of bombs already dropped towers over the buildings. The raid was made by the R.A.F.'s Mediterranean Command, the photo being made from one of the attacking planes.

British Workers Establish Record

LONDON (CP)—The war correspondent of the Evening News wrote today the number of man hours worked in British aircraft and aero-engine factories established a record in September.

New methods are stepping up production all along the line—in the output of bombs, fighters, trainers and their engines—the newspaper said.

"In the case of heavy four-engined bombers the original number of man hours required to complete one plane has been reduced by nearly 25 per cent and further reductions are planned," it added.

The article went on to say the flow of instruments, guns, bullets, shells and bombs has kept pace with the rising tide of production and the work of assembling and modifying United States-built planes has been greatly accelerated.

'GENEROUS GIVERS' HARD BARGAINERS

LONDON (CP)—Assertions that Americans are "very generous givers but very hard bargainers" were heard in the House of Commons today and a demand was made for government assurance against any agreement tying sterling either to gold or the United States dollar.

Oswald Lewis, Conservative, expressed the friendliest feelings for the United States but he declared that with Americans "if you ask for a gift you probably will get a magnificent one, but if you discuss a bargain you are certain to have a very hard one."

He added that tying sterling to gold or the dollar "might prove a most awkward obstacle in the course of any subsequent negotiations with the United States."

Board to Investigate C.P.R. Differences

OTTAWA (CP)—Establishment of a board of conciliation and investigation to deal with differences between the B.C. Coast Steamship Service of the C.P.R. and employees in its steward's department who are members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, was announced today by the Labor Department.

Mr. Justice Sidney A. Smith of Vancouver has been appointed chairman of the board, with Col. R. D. Williams, also of Vancouver, as the employer's nominee, and Alfred J. Wickens of Moose Jaw, Sask., representing the employees.

The dispute on working conditions and wages involves directly nearly 1,000 employees who work on the "Princess" steamers of the C.P.R. in British Columbia.

TO THE RESCUE!

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Nelda Ann Holmes, an unclad blonde of two years, locked herself in the bathroom.

Offers of lollipops, cookies, chewing gum and a new doll dress wouldn't budge her.

Patrolman P. W. Johnson, summoned by the family, has a way with blondes. He just banged a heavy fist on the door and roared:

"This is a policeman. You'd better come out."

Meekly Nelda Ann emerged. But she exercised her women's right to the last word: "Thank you, Mr. Policeman, for letting me out."

Britain Spending $48,950,000 a Day

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons today voted a new war credit of £1,000,000,000—$4,450,000,000—asked by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Kingsley Wood, to meet the rising costs of the war.

British war expenditures now are running to $11,000,000 ($48,950,000) a day, the chancellor said.

The current expenditures are more than 50 per cent higher than during the peak of the first Great War, when they ran $7,000,000 a day.

With £2,000,000,000 already authorized for war purposes alone in this fiscal year beginning April 1, Sir Kingsley said total government expenditures now were $13,000,000 daily compared with $9,000,000 at the peak of the first great war.

The newly-requested £1,000,000,000, he estimated, should last at the current rate of expenditure until about the end of December.

He said the object cited six months ago for financing the war

"by methods, which would hold the dangers of inflation in check so far have been achieved," but added the dangers of inflation remain.

He declared that with the income tax already taking the equivalent of approximately 97 per cent out of each dollar of some incomes "it is clear the maximum rate has been reached at least in certain ranges of income."

With the warning Britain must not be burdened with high interest charges, he said:

"In this war we have not paid more than 3 per cent even on the longest loans compared with 5 and 6 per cent in the last war. I have seen it suggested that in the process of financing the war the country is rapidly bleeding to death... such gloom and despondency are thoroughly harmful and based on a quite fantastic view of the situation."

"The dangers of the future will not lie in the drying up of income but in the faltering of our resolution to restrict the spending of it."

Was Candidate Late? R.O.'s Watch Stopped

Ezra Henniger, who has twice represented Grand Forks-Greenwood riding in the Legislature, is a Liberal candidate again this time, but probably because the returning officer's watch stopped.

Mr. Henniger was nominated by the Liberal Association weeks ago, but when he came to file his papers right near the deadline at 1 Tuesday afternoon there was a dispute about what time it was.

EZRA C. HENNIGER

It was claimed his papers were not submitted until 1:10 and that he was legally too late to be a candidate.

Protests raised by opposition candidates resulted today in an official ruling being made that Mr. Henniger's nomination has been accepted. A detailed report was obtained at the Legislative Buildings and P. Walker, deputy provincial secretary and chief electoral officer, issued the following statement:

"With reference to public statements in respect of the time at which the nomination paper of E. C. Henniger was received by the returning officer for the Grand Forks-Greenwood electoral district, the facts, as reported by the returning officer, L. M. Mansfield, are as follows:

"Mr. Henniger's nomination paper was received, according to the returning officer's watch, at 12:56, that is to say, four minutes before the statutory time at which nominations close. No objection was made at this time and the returning officer accepted and proceeded to examine the papers."

"While he was engaged in the examination a discussion arose among those present in respect to the correct time. It was then ascertained that the returning officer's watch had stopped at the time mentioned above, 12:56 p.m., and it was claimed that Mr. Henniger's nomination paper had actually not been in the hands of the returning officer until approximately 1:10. The returning officer, however, decided in the circumstances that he should accept Mr. Henniger's nomination and accordingly declared him nominated in company with two other candidates."

"The returning officer points out that it is open to any person objecting to his decision to have recourse to the courts."

Aid to Reds Astonishes

NEW YORK (AP)—Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, said today the public would be astonished at the amount of aid already given Russia in her war against Germany, but added further assistance was of prime importance.

Returning aboard the Dixie Clipper after a stay of several weeks in England, he said a great deal of "stuff, raw materials and equipment, has gone or is on the way" to Russia.

"One thing stands out," he continued. "That is the necessity of you and we doing everything we can, and as quickly as we can, for Russia."

In connection with public astonishment at the amount of aid already given Britain's ally, he pointed out that the public "cannot, of course, be told in detail" the extent of assistance.

Lord Halifax, who was accompanied by Lady Halifax, said he would fly to Washington immediately where he hoped to see President Roosevelt soon.

Yankees Take First Game

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK (AP)—Red Ruffing's brilliant six-hit pitching, and Joe Gordon's slugging, enabled the Yankees to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 2 in the opening World Series battle today before a record throng of 68,540 spectators.

Total gate receipts were $265,396.

Gordon, dashing second baseman of the Yankees, put his club out in front with a towering home run in the second inning, and in the sixth punched out a single to score another run. Yankees' third score was the result of a walk and catcher Bill Dickey's double.

Brooklyn scored one run in the fifth and another in the seventh. Short score—R. H. E. Brooklyn 2 6 0 New York 3 6 1 (See page 2 for details of game and box score.)

ON HIS WAY OUT?—Harry Bridges, labor leader, whose deportation to Australia was recommended by Judge Charles B. Sears, New York, who conducted a deportation hearing in San Francisco.

Stin Ker Shrapnel A.W.L.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A veteran of Dunkerque—the rowdiest sea dog in His Majesty's service—has gone A.W.L. again and that's a problem for the British navy.

Sneaking off the cruiser Manchester which is undergoing repairs at the Philadelphia navy yard, Stin Ker Shrapnel started on a tear through the marine barracks but a couple of M.P.'s quickly had him back on ship to face disciplinary action.

Capt. Harold Drew had to drop his work to look after the most troublesome member of his crew of 700. Out came Shrapnel's service folder, a record of devotion under fire along with shore misdeeds culminating in court-martial.

"Shrapnel, Stin Ker, ordinary dog," the captain read. "Origin, doubtful; nearest known relatives, Poodle and Fox; trade brought up to, scrounger; religious denomination, C. of 3; address, B.E.F. Dunkerque."

The captain softened as he came to the name of Shrapnel's first ship, the Jaguar. Stin Ker was adopted by retreating Tommies and taken aboard the Jaguar only to have her bombed from under him in the withdrawal from Dunkerque. He was rescued by the Manchester's crew and immediately signed up "until kicked out."

On November 9, 1940, Capt. Drew read, the dog "did remain absent over leave 13 hours, 15 minutes, being apprehended by naval escort on board H.M.S. King George V." But Shrapnel was let off with a "caution."

Finally he "did traitorously attempt to adopt a foreign accent, namely that of a Chatham ship, with intent to deceive." For that he was court-martialed, sentenced to seven days' disarmament from "soda fountain, nutty bars," and a 14-day boneless diet.

"And now... this," declared Capt. Drew. But being in port, he withheld punishment immediately.

Final Bulletins

Killed in Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—The R.A.F. ferry command today issued a list of three men killed Saturday when their trans-Atlantic planes crashed in Ireland, as follows: Flt-Lieut. Louis Dubuc, Halifax; Sgt. F. J. Goodwin, Brampton, Ont.; Sgt. S. R. Kenny, Grand Pre, King's County, N.S.

Prohibited Waters

Offshore area between Pedder Bay and Beecher Bay, from William Head to Smyth Head, in the Straits of Juan de Fuca is now proclaimed a "prohibited area" under war regulations.

Vessels entering the area must report to the navy's examination vessel off William Head or be fired upon by the Mary Hill fort and other shore batteries, the navy announces.

Want Policies Changed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A brief urging changes in Canada's war-time labor policies, which said "it must be made compulsory for employers to bargain collectively with trade unions" was presented to Hon. Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, today by executives of the Vancouver Labor Council, affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Tripoli Raided

CAIRO (AP)—The R.A.F. had made "one of the most effective raids yet carried out" against the Axis-held north African port of Tripoli, starting one fire which was visible 100 miles away, the British Middle East command announced tonight.

Request Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Cannon, Democrat, Missouri, said today a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee had approved "without major change" President Roosevelt's request for a $5,985,000,000 lend-lease appropriation.

SHIPS IDENTIFIED

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Seaman Sandy Blackburn of Belleville, who told a luncheon address here of the scuttling of two German "sea raiders" and the capture of their crews" in the South Pacific, said today the vessels were the armed German merchantmen Muenchen and Hermonthis, each of about 5,000 tons. The action took place about April 1.

(See page 20 for earlier story.)

Palace Loses Gates

LONDON (CP)—The historic metal fences and gates surrounding Buckingham Palace are to be taken down Friday to be converted into scrap for the manufacture of tanks and other weapons.

The Ministry of Works and Buildings said the King had approved the removal of about 20 tons of metal as a contribution toward a national campaign.

Germany Looks Ahead

BERLIN (AP)—An ocean liner to be named the Vaterland is being constructed by Germany to compete for the Atlantic blue ribbon once peace comes, according to Erich Glosdchey, naval expert of Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter. A ship of the same name fell into American hands in the first Great War and was renamed the Leviathan.

Death for Elias, 4 Dutch Executed

BERLIN (AP)—DNB reported from Prague tonight that a people's court had sentenced Gen. Alois Elias, Premier of the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate, to death.

Gen. Elias' arrest, on charges of premeditation of treason, was announced by the Germans on Saturday.

The court, meeting today at Prague, found Elias guilty of charges of "preparation for high treason and abetting the enemy."

His property was ordered confiscated.

4 DUTCH EXECUTED

NEW YORK (AP)—The German radio said today four persons had been executed and a fifth sentenced to life in prison for sabotage and espionage in the Netherlands.

The broadcast said the sentences were ordered by special war courts under direction of the German commander-in-chief for the occupied country. One of the four executed had shot a German railway man without reason, it was claimed, while the others originated and headed an espionage organization recently unearthed.

STATE OF EMERGENCY

LONDON (CP)—Reuters said that it had heard the Prague radio announce today a state of emergency had been proclaimed in three more districts of the German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia.

Six districts of the protectorate already were under a state of civil emergency decreed Sunday by the new German governor, Reinhard Heydrich, within 24 hours after his appointment, to suppress revolutionary outbreaks.

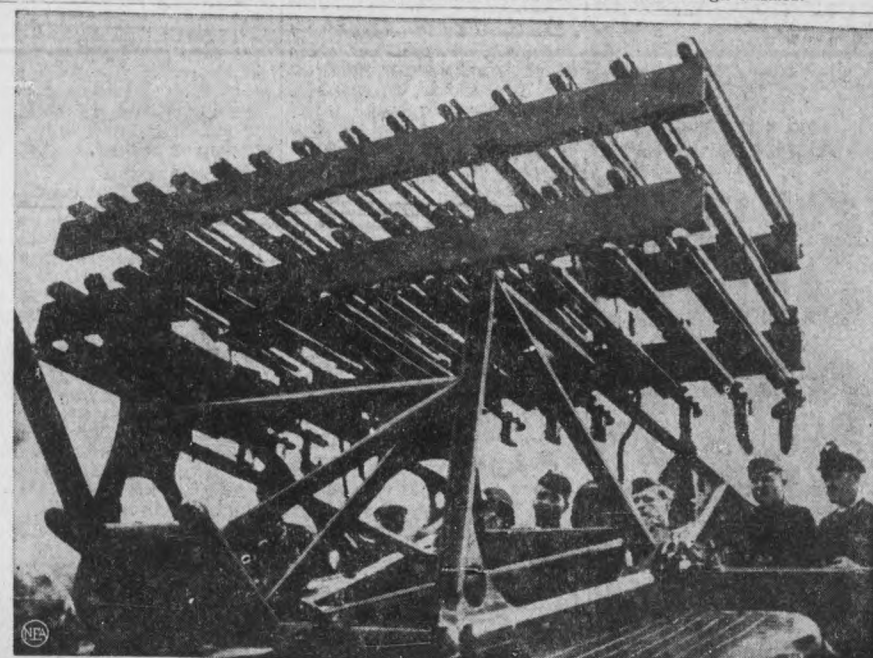

The districts affected today, according to the Prague radio, are Hodonin, Uhersky Brod and Uhersky Hradiste.

Those put under the emergency decree Sunday were the most populous in the country—Prague, Brno, Maehrich, Ostrau, Kladno, Koenig-Radz and Olmutz.

This infernal machine throws 42 grenades at the same time, which would seem to bear out a statement of Benito Mussolini's paper: "Have the Russians got equipment? Lord, yes!"

Snow on Russo Front

Associated Press

The Moscow radio tonight reported the first snowfall of the season on the southwestern front, where the most important recent German gains have been made.

German siege armies attacking Leningrad have lost 100,000 men on the south and southwest approaches of the old Czarist capital, while Rumanian losses in the siege of Odessa, Black Sea port, have reached a total of 160,000 troops, the Russians report.

The Red army also was reported to have crushed two battalions of German reinforcements rushed to a sector of the southern front to replace two shattered Rumanian infantry brigades. In two days the Germans were said to have lost 2,300 men there.

ENORMOUS LOSSES

Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, said "enormous German losses in Estonia and in the direction of Novogrod" were not included in the Leningrad estimate.

On the southern front, German military dispatches claimed Nazi troops were approaching the big industrial city of Kharkov, in the heart of the Donets River basin.

The Russians, admitting the fall of historic Poltava, 80 miles southwest of Kharkov, where Peter the Great routed the Swedish invaders of Charles XII in 1709, declared Soviet troops were forming along the east bank of the Vorskla River to block the Nazi onslaught toward Kharkov. The Russian 1922 military class—19-year-old youths—was called up today for its regular period of military service.

The universal compulsory military training program by which Soviet Russia has announced that she plans to raise the largest People's Army in history from her immense reservoir of manpower also began operating today.

STALIN DECREE

All men from 16 to 50 years old will undergo 100 hours of military training within the next five months under the plan decreed by Premier Stalin.

Staling will be included in the winter program.

S. A. Lozovsky, vice-commissar of foreign affairs, denied as "this usual Italian-German lie" a report Russia is keeping a door open for peace talks with Germany.

"The Fascists are 'trying to fish in troubled waters,'" he said. "They seek to check an ever-growing anxiety in Germany and Italy caused by enormous losses on the Russian front."

World Series

Ruffing, Dickey and Gordon Game Stars

YANKEE STADIUM, New York—That baseball axiom, a club is rated by its strength through the middle, held true today as the New York Yankees whipped Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of the world series, 3 to 2.

Three of the players through that middle, catcher Bill Dickey, pitcher Charley Ruffing and second baseman Joe Gordon, were the stars of manager Joe McCarthy's American League club. Of the six Yankee hits collected off three Brooklyn hurlers, Dickey, Casey and Allen, Dickey and Gordon collected two each, while the last named contributed the game's only home run.

Ruffing, 36-year-old veteran of the Yankee pitching corps, hurled one of the greatest games of his brilliant career. Big Red got himself into several tight spots, but always had enough on the ball to pull through. On three occasions the Yankee bullpen presented a scene of activity, but Ruffing was able to retire the Dodgers.

Ruffing became the fourth pitcher in history to win six world series games as he held the Dodgers' batting order helpless all the way, and struck out their principal slugger, Dolf Camilli, three times. Lefty Gomez, also of the Yankees, is another hurler to have won six.

Yankees opened the scoring for the series in the second inning. After Keller and Dickey had flied and grounded out, respectively, second baseman Joe Gordon cracked a long drive into the left field grandstand for a home run. It was the second hit off Davis up to this point.

Fourth inning saw some real action with the Yanks going two runs up. After left fielder Joe Medwick had robbed Joe DiMaggio of what looked like a sure home run by leaning back towards over the four-foot wall with his arm extended to catch the ball and the falling to the field with his glove held high, Keller drew a walk and scored on Bill Dickey's double against the railing in right centre field, 400 feet from the plate.

Dodgers got to Ruffing for their first hit in the fifth inning and made them good for one run. With two out Reese popped a single into short right centre. Owen followed with a liner into left centre and DiMaggio was just able to knock down the ball and keep it from rolling to the wall. Owen was able to stretch the hit into a triple by sliding headlong into third after Reese had scored.

In the sixth the Dodgers threatened when Ruffing momentarily lost his control to walk a strike, but "Big Red" settled down, striking out Camilli for the third time and forcing Medwick to hit into a force out at third.

Yankees' half of the sixth marked the finish of Davis on the mound for Brooklyn. Keller drew a walk followed by Dickey's single to right centre. Another single by Gordon scored Keller and Davis was replaced by Hugh Casey, who retired the side with no further damage.

Dodgers sliced the Yanks' lead to one run again in their half of the seventh. Lavagetto opened the inning by getting a life at first on shortstop Rizzuto's error. Reese hit a single which bounced in front of the box and over Ruffing's head and landed between Gordon and Rizzuto back of second base.

The Yankee infielders came over to talk to Ruffing and Lew Riggs, a left-handed hitter, came in to bat for Owen. On the first pitch Riggs singled into short centre and Lavagetto, who had been on second, beat DiMaggio's throw to the plate, sliding into Dickey and knocking him down. Reese stopped at second on the play. Jim Wasdell, another left handed batter, pinch-hit for Casey.

Wasdell popped a foul which Rolfe caught on a run to the edge of the Yankee dugout, and then wheeled and threw to Rizzuto at third base to catch Reese for a double play. Riggs holding first. Walker grounded to Gordon and was thrown out by several yards.

Last of the seventh saw the third Brooklyn pitcher go into action when Johnny Allen, former Yankee, replaced Casey who went out of the game for a pinch hitter in the Brooklyn half of the inning.

Brooklyn made a last effort to pull the game out in the ninth inning but fell victims to a double play. Medwick topped the ball down the third base line about 20 feet from the plate for a single, crossing first base before any of the Yankees could field the ball. Lavagetto popped a high foul to Dickey, back of the plate. Reese hit the first pitch for a single into short left, Medwick stopping at second. Franks grounded into a double play, Gordon to Rizzuto to Sturm.

9-Year-Old Travels Alone From England

EDMONTON (CP)—Stepping off a train bound for the Pacific coast early today, nine-year-old Anthony Stapley, an unruly mop of reddish hair indicating he had just got up, looked around, very disappointed because he could see no "mountie."

Traveling alone, young Anthony left England a week ago Monday, arriving in Canada last Thursday. When he left Edmonton he was on the final lap of his journey, but he did not want it to end "because I like the conductor."

Anthony is headed for Vancouver where he will stay with his uncle, W. W. Southam, Mrs. Southam and his grandmother. His father, a lieutenant in the Royal Navy, was killed recently on active service. His mother is an ambulance driver in England.

Canadian Newsmen Luncheon Guests

LONDON (CP)—Canadian newspaper representatives paying a fortnight's visit to wartime Britain were guests of the British government at a private luncheon today at fashionable Claridge's in London's West End.

Brendan Bracken, Minister of Information, presided. There were no speeches and the visitors had the opportunity of meal-time discussion with such distinguished personages as A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty; Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal; Viscount Cranborne, Secretary of State for the Dominions; and Arthur Cardinal Hinsley, Archbishop of Westminster.

Several members of the visiting party visited Reuters' offices in the Fleet Street building in which the Canadian Press offices are located. Samuel Storey, general manager of Reuters, outlined the vast facilities of Reuters.

There are now about 100,000 airplane pilots in the United States.

Knox Says

'Fight Elsewhere Than Own Soil'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Navy Secretary Knox said today that once the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis has been defeated Britain and the United States must pool their forces "to stop new aggression ... at its beginnings" in the post-war world.

Knox said it had been learned from bitter experience "that the great law-abiding, peace-loving nations must take the power into their hands and keep it there for a long time to come to prevent the inauguration of another world war. To put it bluntly, we must join our forces, our power, to that of Great Britain, another great peace-loving nation, to stop new aggression, which might lead to world disturbance, at its beginnings."

The United States, said Knox, "must provide both the major power and the dominant leadership" for the task.

He outlined his views on the future international role of the U.S. in a speech prepared for the 6th annual convention of the American Bar Association. Repeatedly he emphasized American insistence on freedom of the seas—"it is for this we have fought two wars and now, for a third time, have declared we shall insist upon at whatever cost—come what may."

DISTANT WAR BEST

Should war come, he said, "far better a distant war, than one at home."

"If we must fight, and mark this well, there will not be for many years to come a time when we may not have to fight, then, with modern weapons what they are, let us determine that we will fight elsewhere than on our own soil," he declared.

He dwelt on the advantages now accruing to Britain and the United States because of the combined control of the seas by their two fleets, and predicted: "Eventually we shall lock Nazi Germany up in an iron ring, and within that ring of seapower she shall perish."

Apocryphal of the American Navy's operations, he reported: "We are already sweeping the German pirates from the North Atlantic, and bringing to England the products of the arsenal we have set up here."

That statement aroused conjecture whether the secretary had positive evidence that the navy's new shoot-on-sight policy is clearing raiders from the Atlantic. There has been no announcement on the subject since the Atlantic fleet's orders became effective September 16, although Knox promised then "we'll tell the world" if any encounters occurred.

There was food for speculation, too, in the mention Knox made of Japan when he talked of ultimate Axis defeat. In recent months President Roosevelt and any other key administration officials have omitted references to Japan in denouncing the Axis, and not long ago a series of conversations began between the two countries on outstanding differences. But Knox had this to say:

"That Nazism will be defeated, I have no doubt. That we shall proceed from one measure to another measure until we have taken adequate steps to bring defeat to the legions of Hitler and his satellites in Italy and Japan, again I have no doubt."

Knox indicated the navy felt more bases were needed if hemispheric safety was to be protected in South America no less than in North America. The navy's southernmost base now is in British Guiana, and the range of its operations below the bulge of Brazil accordingly is limited. No formal agreements have yet been reached with other hemisphere nations for use of base facilities below the equator in an emergency, or for the improvement of those bases in the meanwhile.

Knox cautioned against "any Maginot Line complex. . . . The error of defensive thinking," particularly with regard to the seaborne defences of United States.

"The best defence has always been a swift offence," he said, "and a navy is inherently an instrument for offensive action because of its mobility."

"Our purpose in having a navy is defensive, but when it comes to fighting the navy always must act offensively."

Discussing the Anglo-American pooling of the world he foresaw for the future, Knox declared: "You may say: what business is it of ours to police the seven seas? Why should we provide both the leadership and the major force to insure against another world war?"

"My answer is history-made. Twice we have learned from bitter experience that no matter how great our reluctance to participate, the world has now grown so small, so inter-related, so inter-dependent, that, try as we will, we cannot escape."

"This does not mean we must fight every time there is a disturbance in the world, but it does mean that the great law-abiding, peace-loving nations must take the power into their hands and keep it there for a long time to come to prevent the inauguration of another world war."

"We will not indulge in any idle dreams of a millennium. We are not going to stop all wars. But I am convinced we, for our own safety and protection, and for the maintenance of our way of life, shall have to provide an interregnum in which we shall not only devote ourselves to the pursuit of peaceful aims, but provide the essential might to enforce such a peace on those who are now willing voluntarily to pursue such a course."

Knox made it clear he believed sea power would be the major law-enforcement agency for such a policy.

Leo Sweeney and Wife Saved From Train Wreck

MASKINONGE, Que. (CP)—Toll of the wreck of one of Canada's fastest trains, the "crack" Montreal-Quebec Pool express "Viger" stood at one killed and 41 injured today. Only about half a dozen of the injured were in serious condition.

Half of the eight-car Viger left the rails near here last night when the train, knifing through a driving rain at an estimated 75 miles an hour, struck a split rail near the outskirts of this little community 76 miles east of Montreal.

The engine and first four cars passed over the faulty rail. The fifth, a coach, jumped the track and tore up roadbed and rails as it plunged forward.

Brakeman J. A. Couture of Montreal was killed. The list of injured included the names of several prominent men who had been in Montreal to attend the funeral of Sir Herbert Holt and Senator Lorne C. Webster.

Most seriously hurt was Mr. Justice A. R. Hall of Court of King's Bench in Montreal, who suffered a fractured skull.

Hon. Maurice Dupre, Privy Councillor and former Solicitor-General in the Bennett government, was listed as suffering from a fractured skull, as well as a bruised right arm and back injuries.

Judge Garon Pratte of Quebec Superior Court, brother-in-law of Justice Minister Lapointe, had a fractured rib.

Mr. Justice Gregor Barclay of Court of King's Bench suffered a broken left arm.

"We have a lot to be thankful for that we came out of this alive," said Mr. Leo Sweeney, Vancouver, as he and his wife huddled with dozens of other survivors in a country garage close to the scene of the wreck.

The Sweeneys were in the first parlor car to be derailed, right behind the diner that went into the river. Of the "20-or-so" other passengers in the car, only one was in any way seriously hurt, Mr. Sweeney said.

"I don't know who he was," he said, "but I take off my hat to him for being so cool. There he was with his ankle broken open, but he just sat there calmly and applied a tourniquet to his leg before anyone knew about his injury."

Couture was brakeman in the Royal train on its run from Quebec to Montreal when the King and Queen visited Canada two years ago.

dead and injured civilians in the wreckage of houses.

Two R.A.F. planes piloted by Canadians, Flt. Lt. Anderson of Winnipeg and Sgt. J. K. Abbott of Montreal, bombed and set afire two German supply ships in a convoy creeping along the Netherlands coast during the night, the Air Ministry said.

One plane dived to within 100 feet and flew over the vessel through tracer fire to plant a bomb between the funnel and the bridge. The rear gunner saw the vessel burst into flames.

The fire in the first ship guided the pilot to the other ship.

While the R.A.F. was thus unusually active, German bombers pounded sharply at five north-eastern British towns for hours last night in an attack greater than any this country has had recently.

(The Germans said Newcastle, Ramsgate, Aberdeen and Hull were attacked.)

The night attack on France was widespread. The Air Ministry said docks at Cherbourg were attacked and large fires started, and that shipyards and oil depots at Nantes were bombed.

From all these attacks one bomber is missing.

Nazi claims that the R.A.F. also raided Berlin brought comment from authoritative sources that Berlin probably had an air raid warning "but no bombs."

One enemy plane was shot down over the British Isles last night when formations of Nazi planes assaulted northeast coastal areas in the heaviest enemy raid of weeks. A communiqué said that in northeast England considerable damage was done and there were a number of casualties, some fatal. Rescue parties sought

Egyptian Ports Now Flooded With U.S. Goods

By EDWARD KENNEDY
CAIRO (AP)—United States war supplies are pouring into the Middle East in such volume they are seriously straining unloading facilities of Egypt's ports.

In a visit to various ports, I have seen ships bulging with planes, tanks, material and general merchandise, discharging their cargoes amid feverish activity day and night.

More than a score of American ships already have arrived in this area with lease-lend supplies.

These are in addition to British, Danish, Netherlands and other freighters coming in with troops and cargoes from Britain and all parts of the British Empire.

Tanks are being set down in lighters, completely assembled and fueled, and driven toward the big desert ordnance depot to be prepared for war service.

"The fact that American tanks now are coming in with tracks on and ready to be driven is a big help in speeding up their delivery," a port official said. "They practically come wrapped in oil paper."

Planes, however, must be assembled after landing. Other vehicles come in great wooden crates, one crate for the chassis with the motor already in it; another for the wheels and various other parts which must be put on.

As a result of this traffic Egypt is flooded with American canned beer, since it comes packed in cases of 12 cans which can be loaded conveniently in the left-over spaces around the ships.

Horror Struck At Red Tank

By PAUL SJOBLUM

WITH THE FINNISH FORCES ON THE PETROZAVODSK FRONT (AP)—The dying charge of a 52-ton Russian tank which mowed down ancient pines as thick as three men and left a trail of splattered and broken machinery was described today by Finnish soldiers.

The Russian monster, with its 3½-inch cannon and five machine guns spitting fire in all directions, crashed through timber for 200 yards before it was halted by a mighty clump of trees.

On a tour of the eastern Karelian front, I saw the wrecked tank and near it the grave of its crew of six, who lie buried in the swampy soil of the battlefield.

As I watched, a Finnish officer placed two ammunition boxes on top of the grave in the form of a cross.

No Finn who faced the huge tank on its last charge ever will forget it.

Surrounded by a Finnish battalion, these soldiers claimed, the tank shot off the road into a forest directly into the midst of Finnish infantrymen.

Down crashed the big trees. The cannon in the tank towered over the machine guns spat deadly fire.

Finnish officers told me their men simply were paralyzed and could only stare in horror.

Finnish officers claimed that the Finnish offensive in east Karelia, launched September 4, has cost the Russians tremendous casualties. They contended the defenders of Petrozavodsk have been pressed back until they are squeezed into a tight strip of coast surrounding the city.

No War Profit Now Says Wood

LONDON (CP)—Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said recently: "We have taken, and are taking, profit out of war. He must be an exceedingly lucky man who can make a fortune today."

Sir Kingsley gave forth these figures:

A man earning as much as $400,000 a year has to pay a fraction more than 94 cents in taxes from every dollar he makes.

For the man in the $20,000 a year class who claims exemption for two children, the tax is 55 percent of his gross income.

If a man with $4,000 a year income earns an extra $1,000 a year, he must pay $448 of the increase in taxation.

If a man making $40,000 a year earns another $20,000 he must pay $18,248 of the increase to the tax collector.

3 Days in a Dinghy

Flier Spent 'Eternity' Under Water in Bomber

LONDON (CP)—An R.A.F. squadron leader spent "an eternity" 10 feet under water in the nose of a bomber which crashed in the North Sea. How he fought to freedom was revealed when the crew was washed ashore after floating three days in a dinghy.

The aircraft, badly damaged during a raid over Ostend and nose-heavy after the crew tossed everything detachable overboard, touched the water at 90 miles an hour, bounced and crashed into the sea. Four airmen escaped through a break in the fuselage, almost cracked in half by the force of the smash, but the pilot and front gunner were trapped. The pilot was sprawled in the cockpit 10 feet beneath water, but the gunner, who had managed to reach the observer's seat, was above the water level.

"I was all but drowned when I saw a bright light above me. That must have been the fire burning from the navigator's table to the rear turret. I made for the fire, grabbing hold of everything I could.

"I felt the various things go past me—the wireless set, the oxygen bottles, the main spar—and I knew I was going up the fuselage so I tried the astro hatch, but it was locked, and I was too weak to open it.

"Then I saw more lights ahead. For a second it flashed across my mind that it was one of the lights drowning people are supposed to see, but I made for it all the same. When I got near the second light I found there was a break in the fuselage. The front gunner was just getting through it.

IN BAD WAY

"I was in a pretty bad way, but still conscious. As I got my head above water I saw the dinghy and with the help of the sergeant started swimming towards it. I can't remember getting into the dinghy. I can only remember an eternity with my head under water."

"I couldn't even talk. It was too painful. I spent all night getting the salt water out of my lungs and guts. It was a night of complete hell."

How 1914-18 Fliers Feel

'Old Gals in Hoopskirts Alongside Glamor Debs'

(Clayton Knight, aviation's foremost artist, was attached to the British Royal Naval Air Service as an American soldier in the first Great War and was shot down, badly wounded, behind the German lines late in 1917.)

By CLAYTON KNIGHT

NEW YORK (AP)—I'll never forget how excited we pilots were when the first big Handley-Page bombers came out in 1917. The German Berthas—named after the widow Bertha Krupp of the Krupp gun works—had been giving the Allies an awful pounding and at last we had a big bomber that could repay in kind. Britons called the Handley-Page "re-prisal" planes and we were plenty proud of them.

The new bomber had a big wing spread, compared to present day types, but the crew, pilots, gunners and observers, were all in open cockpits. We were proud of her speed of nearly 80 miles an hour with a full load and she could actually reach a ceiling of 7,000 feet as well as cruise 500 miles without refueling!

If anybody had told us then that in the year 1941 bombing planes would travel nearly five times as fast—335 miles an hour—at a ceiling of 36,000 feet and be able to go 3,000 miles with a full load, we would have said they were crazy.

PRETTY SWELL

But we all thought the Handley-Page was a pretty swell bus. And it was, too, the best of its day. We were also so worked about the new bomber that all the pilots swore that none would fall into the hands of the enemy.

Yet the very first Handley-Page that took off from England for France flew straight into Germany!

It's still a mystery. Some say the flier was a German spy who had worked into the confidence of his officers; others say he just lost his way and thought he was landing in France. Anyway, the Germans got the first intact.

It is quite possible the pilot did lose his way. We had no crack navigators then as they have now. Incidentally, no bombers ever took off from England to bomb Germany in the first Great War, as they do today. The distance was too great.

You hear a lot about bomb-sights today. We had them on our bombers—ours was a marvel of simplicity, just a frame with a couple of cross wires and a sort of scale. It was so simple that everybody knew that the safest place to be during a raid was—on the target!

When I was shot down over enemy territory, I was taken, wounded, to a German prison hospital not far behind the lines. I admit I was plenty scared the day I was brought down, but it was nothing to the scares I got in that hospital.

Every day my own squadron used to come over and drop bombs all around us. The German attendants indignantly protested that they were trying to hit the hospital.

SCARED TO DEATH

I was scared to death because I knew the boys were not aiming at the hospital. If they had been,

Would Unseat Liberal M.P.

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—

Several witnesses testified in superior court yesterday in the action to unseat R. G. Davidson that on the Saturday preceding the general election in 1940 they had attended a "smoker" in Magog at which Mr. Davidson made an address and alcohol and beer were served free of charge.

Action to oust the Liberal M.P. for Stanstead was instituted by two Stanstead electors, who charged liquor and money were distributed among the voters to influence them to vote for Davidson.

One witness, Annette Larault of Coaticook, said she had voted twice during the election because her name appeared on the list in two different polls. She was granted the protection of the court before she gave her evidence.

Three men testified they had been given liquor during the 1940 general election campaign by persons associated with the election organization of Davidson.

Another witness, Fred Gilbert of Barnston, said he had received between $30 and $40 for poll expenses and "one or perhaps two bottles of alcohol."

"As a matter of fact," Gilbert added, "I bought some liquor out of my own pocket for the celebration after the polls closed because I did not think there would be sufficient."

Mr. Justice Ervold McDougall remarked: "In other words, there wasn't enough for a good party."

Hitler Ousted, Churchill Top

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Hitler's two-year term as the "world's greatest living person" in the eyes of the Princeton freshmen classes ended yesterday when the class of 1945 elected Winston Churchill to that post in its annual poll. The Prime Minister collected 110 votes to Hitler's 73.

President Roosevelt, ranked third on the world list, was labelled the "greatest living American" for the third straight year, leading Wendell Willkie 101 to 39. Charles A. Lindbergh polled 16 votes for third place.

Eighty-nine per cent of the class believed a victory over Germany more important than staying out of the war, and 36 per cent favored an immediate declaration of war against the Reich. Eighty-two per cent avowed willingness to go overseas if the need arose.

First Things First

PREMIER PATULLO'S STATEMENT to the people of British Columbia last night should be studied by every citizen of this province who desires reliable information on the state of provincial affairs and the policies of the government—policies which have been pursued with outstanding success for the last eight years. First and foremost the head of the administration made it abundantly clear—clear enough for the least imaginative to understand—that he and his ministerial colleagues, from the very outset of the war, have been lending maximum aid to the Dominion government in the prosecution of Canada's contribution to the cause to which all peoples of the British Empire are irrevocably committed. He repeated with all the emphasis at his command that British Columbia, through a government under his leadership, will leave nothing undone that is calculated to assist in the battle against the Nazi tyranny.

The Premier would not have been doing his duty to the people whose servant he is, however, if he had omitted to deal with those basic policies with which the economic and social life of British Columbia is directly associated. He surveyed the whole provincial scene in a manner which should prove even to his bitterest critics that few men in this province since party lines were established in 1903 have acquired such an intimate understanding and appreciation of its requirements, its fundamental rights, and its growing importance in the structure of Canadian Confederation, while the part it has played and will continue to play under the direction of his administration in the nation's war effort commands warm commendation. As he said when Hitler sent his war machine into Poland, British Columbia's resources, in their infinite variety, are pledged to all efforts for the winning of the war that the Dominion authorities, with their full understanding of requirements under every conceivable heading, consider essential to victory. And when that victory has been won, when domestic problems lend themselves to discussion in a less explosive atmosphere, British Columbia's vital interests will be surrounded with all the safeguards essential and appropriate to her economic and geographical position.

In the meantime, however, the people of British Columbia will be consulting their own important interests as they mark well the absence of anything in the nature of a constructive program from the oppositionists. Nor would it be complimentary to the intelligence of the electors if we were to think for a moment they are in the mood to dislocate the effective and smoothly-running collaboration between this province and the Dominion, in all matters directly associated with the nation's war effort, by exchanging the present government of experienced men for one composed of members without administrative experience. It needs little imagination to understand how necessary it is to preserve continuity of policy between British Columbia and Ottawa, the disturbance of which, even for the few months or more a new government would require to familiarize itself with the numerous intricate problems which crop up from day to day, would be extremely detrimental to an all-out contribution to victory. Mr. Pattullo has every right to ask for and expect the endorsement of his administration on October 21.

What Bombs Do

BOMBASTIC CHATTERER VIRGINIO Gayda has been at it again; he told us yesterday that new Axis plans will soon disprove reports of weakening morale in Italy and Germany—which he accuses "the Anglo-Saxons" of inventing. It is all right for Mussolini's journalistic mouthpiece to sink a few British cruisers with his propaganda newspaper, or to recite how the Italian Expeditionary Force on the eastern front is "mopping up" the remnants of four divisions of Soviet troops; but when he tries to imply that Il Duce's regimented countrymen are figuratively kicking up high jinks in the streets of Genoa and Turin he is only fooling himself.

It is probably true enough that the Italian people have not yet brought themselves to the point from which they will find some practical means of openly registering their objections to such little discomforts as those occasioned by the decree which gives them only six ounces of bread a day, or no more coal until December, or other forms of official "control" that forcefully remind them of some of the former promises that came from the pen of Signor Gayda. But nothing he says now is likely to have much effect on a population compelled to rub shoulders with Himmler's Gestapo. Most of their thoughts naturally centre on the prospects of peace, how soon it will come, and what will be the fate of their country when Hitler has been forced to open the prison doors for this sadly-disillusioned people. That should be the day when Virginio Gayda will, if he is wise, emulate the example of the navy and army—and run.

Italy now is rationing shoes—but it will take more than that to put the country back on its feet.

Compare These Figures

THOSE BRITISH COLUMBIANS WHO may be thinking it is too much to ask this province to buy $1,000,000 worth of War Savings Certificates a month from now on until the end of the war should spare a minute or two to consider a statement—which appears elsewhere in this issue—Sir Kingsley Wood, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented to the House of Commons this afternoon. It suggests a study in relativity that does not require an actuarial mind to understand. It is this:

Britain's expenditures are now £13,000,000 a day, compared with £8,000,000 daily at the peak of the first Great War. Britain's expenditures during the last two years now total £7,018,000,000, of which £5,668,000,000 was exclusively for war purposes—and 40 per cent of this huge amount was met out of current revenue.

Forty-five million bombed and blasted and blacked-out citizens of Britain are not grumbling about the enormous financial load they are carrying. They do not shrink at the prospect of taxation that will keep them materially poor for many a year. They are pulling their maximum weight to make sure that we in British Columbia and decent folk the world over may one day herald a peace that will guarantee the most priceless of all possessions—liberty.

The people of Britain, then, must spend—it is not a question of whether they want to do it or not—$1.30 per person every day. British Columbia's populace of 800,000 are being asked to buy $1,000,000 worth of securities per month that will pay them 3 per cent interest. This works out at approximately four and one-sixth cents daily. And there is no bombing, blasting, blacking-out or the hundred and one other "inconveniences" to put up with here—6,000 miles from the fighting front. Surely the $1,000,000 monthly investments in War Savings Certificates campaign should not only succeed in bringing in that amount; it should easily be doubled. It should at least equal the $1,500,000 British Columbians spend every month on liquor.

Cairo and Rome

HAS CAIRO BEEN BOMBED? WE thought it had; there were reports that British policy had been challenged. Dispatches two weeks ago conveyed the impression that the time had come to make good Mr. Churchill's threat—issued from No. 10 Downing Street last April 18 without equivocation—that if either Athens or the holy Moslem city were treated as London so often had been treated by Goering's Luftwaffe, the Royal Air Force would return the compliment with compound interest. In his address to the House of Commons yesterday, however, the Prime Minister offered the following explanation for allowing the Eternal City to go free so far:

"People ask why don't you bomb Rome? Did you not say you would bomb Rome if Cairo was bombed; what is the answer? One answer is that Cairo has not yet been bombed. Only military positions in the outskirts have been bombed. But, of course, we have the same right to bomb Rome as the Italians had to bomb London last year, when they thought we were going to collapse, and we shouldn't hesitate to bomb Rome to the best of our ability and as heavily as possible if the course of the war should render such action convenient."

Mr. Churchill is not given to speaking without support by fact. His observations on this intriguing point in the war's conduct naturally commands respect. Were he not sure of the circumstances he would not have been so explicit. He knows, perhaps better than anybody else, the effect any weakening of the government's resolve in respect of reprisals on Rome would have on the Moslem world. The good will of Islam may not be trifled with. A promise is a promise; the Arabs, for example, have not been easily weaned from their indifference to Britain's cause in this war. They have not forgotten how a former British government treated the word of Lawrence of Arabia. It would be part of Hitler's plan to put Downing Street to the test by bombing Cairo—Cairo proper, we mean.

Another advantage in being a man is that you don't feel like a social outcast if you are the only one there without a hat.

BRITISH JUSTICE IS INTACT

From Ottawa Journal
A German woman of 41, a cook in an English household, was the chief witness against her mistress, wife of a former army captain, in a criminal case at the bombed Old Bailey recently. It is an interesting little story of British justice.

The German woman's family all live in Germany, and she had no friends in England. One day she went to the police and told them her mistress had swindled her out of £140, her life savings. Her mistress, she said, had told her that if she were interned she would lose her money, and persuaded her to withdraw it from the Post Office Savings Bank, hand it over for safe keeping. Later the mistress refused to return it.

The police investigated, and as a result the mistress was put on trial. The cook told her story in faltering English, and when asked why she went to the police replied, "Who else could help me?" Upon the evidence a jury of seven took the cook's word against her employer's, and the mistress was sent to jail for six months. Her husband refunded the money.

It is good to know that British justice, even in a time of national peril, still is rigidly impartial, plays no favorites. Serenely immune to prejudice and racial feeling the Goddess of Justice holds her scales at even balance and if a humble German cook has a just cause against an Englishwoman the enemy alien gets the verdict. That is British justice, a triumph of British civilization—and one of the reasons why Britain must survive if the world is not to revert to barbarism.

MR. TUNNEY'S DISCOVERY

THE WORLD IS indebted to Mr. Gene Tunney, the pugilist and Shakespearean, for a valuable piece of information. Mr. Tunney, now a physical trainer in the United States Navy, says that the "pot belly" is the chief cause of moral as well as physical collapse in his country.

The pot belly, Mr. Tunney has discovered in the course of his naval duties, is all but universal in the United States and it is all but universal here. Personally, I have not found men so afflicted to be more or less moral in the conventional sense than the lean ones, but Mr. Tunney vaguely senses a deep truth. This whole continent has had a collapse not of sexual morals but of something still more serious, in the morality of ordinary living. It has lived softly. It has acquired a pot belly because it has been too lazy to avoid this protuberance.

The protuberance has become so typical that it is almost taken as a sign of success in any man over 35. When he begins to get fat around the middle you can see that he is now a leader among men. He doesn't have to work with his body any more. He can use his mind and let the body go to the devil, which is does with haste. Thus you have all over America billions of dollars spent on public health, you have laboratories of medical experiment and health insurance schemes, but the individual who makes up the nation cares little about his condition. His wife, who is meant to be fat, insists on getting thin because it is the fashion. He, who should be thin, gets fat because he can't be bothered to take exercise.

DEADWEIGHT

NOW IT MAY BE argued that we in North America are the most healthy people in the world despite our habits. This may be true, due to our abundance of food and our health services, but it is not merely a question of physical health. It is a question of mental health, of spiritual health. For the pot belly is not merely an appendage of the carcass. It is a deadweight on the soul.

I hasten to add that many stout men are of the finest quality. Many great men have been fat because their greatness was able to march over a mountain of flesh. Nor are the pot-bellied to be confused with the naturally beefy fellows who take exercise but still are meaty. Mr. Churchill is such a man. He has always been hard but plump. I am referring to the men whom nature made lean and intended to stay lean and who have remained lean everywhere but in one spot. It is they whose souls suffer from over-weight.

All America has thus suffered from over-weight because that over-weight was not built by the natural heavy eating of active men. It was built by soft living. It was built by too much luxury, undeserved. It was built by men who could have big dinners without working up the appetite for them in the woods or the field. It was built not by accident, but by design.

CONSPIRACY

YOU MIGHT SAY that the whole energy and dynamic of North American society had contrived by a cunning conspiracy and a prodigy of effort to build the pot belly. Our society's economic basis has been the over-production of luxuries and the under-production of necessities; so that while millions never had enough to eat or wear, millions had too much rich food and over-soft beds and too many automobiles.

Our whole society was based on the assumption that if enough money was poured into the creation of luxuries for those at the top somehow the money would trickle down to those at the bottom. All you had to do was to make every successful man own two automobiles and his wife sleep on a soft bed and, as a result, enough activity would be created in business to put all the poor people to work. Eventually, it was believed, even the poor might own a second-hand car and a second-class bed, so long as you crammed enough luxuries into the well-to-do classes. In fact, society in North America was built on the pot belly. It was the foundation stone of our civilization.

Alas, it was not strong enough, despite its size, to carry the load. Though luxuries increased, though the foundation grew and grew, still the poor could not even get a job, and when this war started some 10,000,000 Americans and 1,000,000 Canadians were on relief. They didn't get enough to buy a second-hand car or a second-class bed. They didn't get enough to eat. The universal pot belly, which was to be the final mark of a successful economic system, never spread to the whole public and the entire experiment turned out a failure.

THINNING PERIOD

NOW WE ARE entering a period of thinning. The pot belly will be deflated by the war. Next year the United States will make practically no pleasure automobiles and men may have to walk for a change. The manufacture of all luxuries will decline. But only for the war. As soon as the war is over the old experiment will be started again and the ideal of society, the true objective of life, once more will be the accumulation of useless things, on which our business structure will depend.

This time a better superstructure may be built. Even the poor in time may get pot bellies. But somehow, so long as there are hard, hungry and envious races loose in the world, I fear the pot belly will be an unsatisfactory and an unsafe foundation. In the end the superstructure built on it will collapse as it has always collapsed under similar circumstances in every previous civilization.

MISS UTLEY'S 'PEACE'

In the October issue of the Readers Digest is an article by Miss Freda Utley which is worth a fair-sized battle to Adolf Hitler.

Miss Utley is one of the ablest living English women writers. Her book, "Japan's Feet of Clay," made her a marked person, especially by the Japanese. That she is a former Communist, whose husband was purged by Josef Stalin, does not detract from the weight of her arguments.

Freda Utley argues for a negotiated peace. She pleads with the people of the United States not to enter the war, but rather to use their influence to "force" Hitler to discuss peace terms with Britain "as an equal."

I have no space here, nor inclination, to attempt to answer Miss Utley's arguments one by one—although some of them are as absurd as to make one wonder. For instance, this: "If English policy is to be as realistic and intelligent and as free from outside interference as it was in the days of Napoleon, Britain will eventually compromise with Hitler, just as she compromised with the 'Corsican ogre' in 1802."

Any school child should know the answer to that one. The negotiated peace which England foolishly made with Napoleon in 1802 lasted less than three years. Britain obtained a brief respite at the expense of a later 10-year war. The lesson speaks for itself.

TRUCE NOT PEACE

Suppose for any reason those who think like Mrs. Utley were to get their way, and a so-called negotiated peace were to be proclaimed. In Miss Utley's definition that would mean frank acceptance of Hitler's domination of continental Europe. She argues that in the course of time the German people might, in some unexplained way, be able to get rid of their bad leaders, and so on and so forth.

The truth is, of course, that any kind of "peace" which left the German gangsters, or even the German army command, in control of continental Europe would inevitably be one of two things:

1. A shortcut to a secretly prepared and suddenly-delivered blitzkrieg invasion of Britain by Germany—the surest way to national suicide.

2. A peace in name only, with neither side under any illusions about the other, in which Britain would mark time only till the United States had completed the arming and training of the most formidable force ever created.

HITLER PANTS FOR IT

Far from having to be forced into negotiating such a peace, Hitler would, I believe, sacrifice 1,000,000 lives to get it—and sacrifice them without hesitating a split second.

Such a peace would end all his troubles about shortages of raw materials. He could concentrate his entire power for secret preparation of one objective—blitzkrieg conquest of Britain. It is not only because no sane British leader would ever again consider Hitler's pledged word as worth anything. The mechanics of modern war has changed for all time to come Britain's former security from attack. When Mr. Baldwin stated years ago that Britain's frontier was on the Rhine he was merely defining the facts of geography, as related to modern defence.

Since that time the mechanical possibilities of lightning-like aggression have been multiplied out of proportion.

Britain's ability to withstand an invasion attempt by Germany is even now in some doubt—with the strength of the whole still-free world mobilized behind her and air, land and sea forces on guard 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

A Britain even demobilized to a fraction would be a pushover for conquest by the kind of people the German military men are—given the conditions which would exist if Miss Utley had her way.

Fortunately for all of us, British leadership shows no signs of the middleheadedness which seems to have beset this distinguished ex-columnist.

WANTED—A NAME

From New Horizon
British newspapers last month ran a want ad in their editorial columns. Readers were asked to cudgel their brains for a name for the new ships of British Overseas Airways "which will catch the public imagination in the same way as has the name 'Clipper' used exclusively to identify the flight equipment of Pan American Airways."

Before it placed its problem before newsreaders, Britain's international air transport had held a competition among its staff members. Dolefully reported London's Evening Standard: "Nothing practical came out of it."

Best suggestion appeared to be "Cutter." But as the Lancashire Daily Post confessed, "this is regarded as too close to the Pan American inspiration."

When millions of lives are lost and tens of millions of lives are ruined because of an insane ambition to get everything everywhere under one thumb, then I think it is up to us to help to stop it.—William S. Knudsen, director-general O.P.M.

The most powerful forces in the universe are not always the most vocal.—Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, N.Y., St. Nicholas Church.

FEW OUT OF WORK

From Manchester Guardian
The returns of unemployment for the month ending July 14 reflect the continued absorption of labor by the forces and war industries. In June there were 301,939 unemployed people on the registers; in July the number had dropped to 227,280. So long as the registers are kept open there must, of course, be names upon them.

The significance of the latest figures is shown by the ministry's analysis of unemployed men. There were 102,000 of them on the registers. Of these 33,000 were classified as unfit for industrial employment, and of the remaining 70,000 most were in the process of changing from one job to another. The unemployment problem has virtually disappeared for the time being. The demand for labor is great.

The position can be illustrated by a sample count made at one labor exchange. There were 111 men on the registers, and of these 70 were over 55 years of age. In this exchange positions were being found for men up to 67 and even 77 years.

We must rededicate ourselves to the task which lies before us in order that all peoples may live as equals.—President Roosevelt in a Rosh Hashanna greeting to American Jews.

Y Officials Visit Hostess Houses

Mrs. J. L. Savage, chairman of the Y.W.C.A. National War Service Committee, and Miss Mary E. Frizelle, administrative secretary of that department, are making a tour of all Y.M.C.A. Hostess Houses and other war service centres in the western provinces. Between October 9 and 18 they will be in British Columbia when Dr. Olga H. M. Jardine, provincial liaison officer, will accompany them as they visit in Prince Rupert, Victoria, Sidney, Nanaimo and Vancouver.

At Prince Rupert a joint project of Y.M.C.A. Hut and Y.W.C.A. Hostess Club is operating in the old Moose Hall. The building, now remodeled, is a popular recreation centre for the men, and a homelike meeting place for the wives and friends. During the first week after the building opened over 300 wives and friends of the servicemen made use of the comfortable rooms.

The Hostess House in Nanaimo, having limited overnight accommodation, has been busy catering to emergency needs of the wives and families coming to visit men of the camps. Several parties have taken place in the spacious rooms, and have been enjoyed by the men, who have asked that they be held more frequently. The Hostess House proved an attractive setting for a recent wedding. The bride was a stranger in the city, but all arrangements were easily made, with the assistance of the hostess and interested friends.

The Y.W.C.A. Hostess Club at Sidney is more busy than usual, since they have welcomed men of the R.A.F. station, in addition to the numbers from the R.C.A.F. Jericho Hostess House, Vancouver, was the first one opened on the west coast, serving the men of Jericho Air Station, and their women relatives and friends.

Ruth Horton Lovely Bride Today at St. Mary's

A wedding of international interest drew a large number of guests to St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, at 1.30 today for the marriage of Ruth Antoinette, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brewster Horton of 3530 Midland Road, the Uplands, to Lieut. Arthur Hoadley Mitchell, United States Army Air Corps of Stockton, Cal., only son of Mrs. Arthur Knox Mitchell, 1001 Terrace Avenue, Victoria, and the late Mr. Mitchell.

The chancel and altar were beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Ven. A. E. de L. Nunns, Archdeacon of Columbia, performed the ceremony. Mr. F. T. C. Wickett was at the organ, playing the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" as the bride entered the church on her father's arm. During the signing of the register the organist played "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

ALL-WHITE RETINUE

The petite, fair-haired bride was lovely in her wedding gown of ivory satin. Fashioned with smart simplicity on princess lines, the bodice fitted closely to the slim figure, with sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves extending to a point over the hands, tiny self-covered buttons fastening the sleeves and the back of the gown from the neckline to below the waist. The skirt rippled in flares from below the hips, sweeping into a graceful train. With it she wore a long veil of filmy ivory tulle, caught into an ivory shell coronet, and carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and swainsona.

An all-white retinue of three attendants preceded her down the aisle. Her sister, Miss Betty-Lou Horton, was maid of honor, and Miss Sue Jones and Miss Peggy Angus were bridesmaids. All wore dresses made alike of white, with velvet bodices and frothy bouffant skirts of white tulle. The maid of honor wore a demure little heart-shaped hat of blue nylon, adorned in front with two bluebirds, and carried a shower bouquet of Bella Donna delphinium.

The bridesmaids wore similar heart-shaped hats of pink nylon, with two pink birds as ornament, and carried shower bouquets of pink Briardiffle roses.

Mr. Douglas Sutcliffe was best man, and Messrs. Ned Symons, Arthur Izard and Forrest Angus were ushers.

HOUSE RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Horton welcomed a large number of guests after the ceremony at their home in the Uplands, the reception rooms being beautifully decorated with masses of autumn flowers. Mrs. Horton received the guests in a model gown of green crepe, with chausse yoke shot with gold thread, complemented by a model hat of chausse with matching feathers, and wore Talisman roses. She was assisted by Mrs. A. K. Mitchell, mother of the groom, wearing a smart tailored ensemble in R.A.F. blue, with wool skirt and silk jersey top, the short wool jacket finished with novelty silver buttons and tiny lapels on which she wore a boutonniere of bright red roses. Her chick hat of R.A.F. blue felt with up-turned brim was trimmed around the crown with tiny ostrich feathers to tone.

Mrs. L. G. Horton of Seattle, grandmother of the bride, wore a soft black and white ensemble, with black feathered hat, and a corsage of gardenias, and Miss Gladys Irving of Victoria, aunt of the groom, wore an imported gown of honey-beige crepe, with sables, and a hat of hunter's green felt trimmed with a jaunty pheasant quill.

The buffet luncheon was served from a table centred with the three-tiered bride's cake, and lighted by tall ivory tapers in silver candelabra at either end.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. D. M. Doherty of Vancouver, Mrs. John Wolfertan of Ottawa and Mr. Ronald Brown, Vancouver, cousins of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Theron Hawkes and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Hawkes, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Mayne Hamilton, Mrs. W. L. Newsom, Miss Helen Newsom, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Bell-Irving, Mrs. C. E. Thomas, all of Vancouver; Miss Margaret Dodd, Revelstoke; Mr. Lorne Campbell, Trail; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Polson, Seattle.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left for a honeymoon trip, en route for Stockton, Cal., the bride traveling in a fern green suit with Havana brown shoes and hat, a fur jacket and a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Court Triumph, A.O.F., will meet Friday at 8. Officers and members of Court Victoria will present the traveling gavel of good will. Refreshments will be served. Members of all courts will be welcomed.

Miss Terese Todd To Drive Transport Overseas

Miss Terese Todd, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Todd, of "Willmar," St. Charles Street, has been chosen among the bevy of girls to act as transport drivers overseas, it was learned today, although official confirmation is being awaited.

Her selection follows the visit to the coast of a British mission to enlist the services of Canadian girls for transport work in Great Britain and wherever the need may arise.

Miss Todd, who is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pim Butchart, was one of the first recruits to the B.C. Women's Service Corps, joining it on September 6, 1939. Today she holds the rank of 2nd lieutenant in the corps, which recently amalgamated with the Canadian Red Cross Corps. She is particularly well equipped for her new duties, having taken several courses in mechanics, including the Ford and General Motor courses, as well as Church, Mrs. John Goldie, Mrs. K. C. Drury, Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, Mrs. Alma Wilson, Mrs. F. G. Aldous, Mrs. F. M. Bryant, Mrs. Chas. Hurston and Mrs. Walter Luney.

Her girl friends of the Reunion Club held a shower last evening for Miss Georgina-Mae "Joey" McAnerin, whose marriage to Mr. Oliver T. Goldsmith will take place shortly. The affair was held at the home of Miss Helen Johnson, 643 Speed Avenue. A corsage bouquet of white carnations and white heather was given to the bride-to-be upon her arrival and her mother, Mrs. H. J. McAnerin, received pompon dahlias. Several games were enjoyed and during the evening Miss McAnerin was presented with two attractive bedroom lamps by Miss Helen Johnson on behalf of the friends present. A white and silver color scheme was used for the supper table, at which Mrs. R. Johnson presided. A silver bowl of white carnations, a prettily-decorated ice cream cake and lighted white tapers in silver holders formed the motif for the table from which a buffet supper was served. The guests were Mesdames H. J. McAnerin, W. Bates, R. Johnson, D. Warren, D. Weir, G. Harvey, B. Desey and Misses Jean Bishop, Gladys McAnerin and Alice Leach.

Mrs. Gordon Hunter and Mrs. Harty Morden presided at the tea table when the executive of the Women's Canadian Club entertained at tea yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel following the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCowan, Mr. James Harvey and his mother, Mrs. Wilson Harvey, Miss Joan Gower and her mother, Mrs. Gower, were special guests. Others present were: Mrs. J. E. Hutchings, Mrs. A. H. Young, Mrs. E. C. Hayward, Mrs. J. W.

Bridge Tea to Aid Jubilee Hospital

The Senior Woman's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital will hold a bridge tea next Wednesday, October 8, in the Nurses' Home. The affair will be held both afternoon and evening, play starting at 2.30 and 8.30. In the afternoon tea guests will be welcomed at 4.

The auxiliary has made a number of large commitments, including a recent gift of $1,000 towards the cost of a portable X-ray machine, many other articles of equipment and furnishing for the new wing, in addition to its usual work of helping to maintain linen and other supplies, and this bridge tea is being arranged for the purpose of implementing the funds.

Anyone desirous of helping this worthy cause may make reservations with Mrs. Patterson, G 3745.

Says Mechanical Age
Has Impact on Wild Life

Dan McCowan, noted Canadian naturalist and author, delighted an audience of nearly 500 members of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon with his address on "Nature's Trails in the Rockies."

With the aid of a number of beautiful slides, made from photographs secured by himself and colored by his wife, he took his audience on a holiday ramble through the Banff National Park, to Lake Louise and through Mount Assiniboine Park.

With whimsical humor, sound philosophy and touches of poetry, he expounded the gospel of the great outdoors, introducing to his audience little known members of the flora and fauna of these regions. Charming studies were shown of nesting birds of the shyer varieties, of moose, elk, wapiti, marmots, gophers, squirrels and other denizens of the wild.

Mr. McCowan touched upon the changes made in the habits of these wild animals and birds by the mechanical age. As an instance he cited the chipping sparrow, which once lined its nest with horsehair, and now was reduced to using coconut fibre from mats and oakum for this domestic purpose.

Even the bears which once waited at the roadside for handouts, today showed their ingenuity by taking up their position in the centre of the road and forcing the speeding cars to stop, he observed, to the amusement of his audience.

The meeting was held in the Empress Hotel ballroom, Mrs. F. G. Aldous, first vice-president, taking the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. T. H. Johns. She welcomed the new members and introduced the club's bursary-holders, Miss Joan Gower and James Harvey, who had seats on the platform. Mrs. H. L. Campbell moved the vote of thanks to the speaker.

Hundreds of Victoria's well-dressed women have learned this good news by discovering what New Method does through the magic of "Sanitone"—the modern miracle that does so much but costs not a penny more than just ordinary "Cleaning."

Over All Lines

If you can believe all you read in the California newspapers "the old Empress Hotel in Victoria has been turned into barracks, and half the men in the building are from California."

Also from California comes a reference to the "very British afternoon tea at the Empress." "While we sat in the plush atmosphere, absorbing the ancient dignity which permeates the atmosphere, in came two bouncing American girl tourists," says the writer. "Table for two?" asked the prim waitress. "No," said one of the girls, "We'll just sit at the counter."

U.S. Columnist Louis Sobol says he will not be among the writers preparing to lambast the Duke and Duchess of Windsor during their visit to this continent. Kings and former kings still hold a tremendous spell over him, he says. When he met the Duke at Nassau he couldn't feel the same around him as he did around most of the people he meets.

Sobol says the doesn't think he is different from millions of other American people. "Don't tell me," he writes, "that there aren't thousands and thousands of people who go around knocking the Duke and Duchess who wouldn't be excited if they suddenly found out they were coming to the house for dinner."

Just to give you an idea of how big some of the new defence plants are, a recent "statistical" visitor to the new Wright Aeronautical plant in Cincinnati figured it large enough to let all 16 major league ball teams play in eight games simultaneously with 30,000 fans watching each game in regulation stands. For good measure, he estimated there would still be enough room left over for a college football game.

"Horse-and-buggy days" for defence could be the motto of Keeshin Motor Express, Inc., of Chicago, one of America's largest operators of motor truck fleets, which has announced that horse-drawn wagons are now being put into service for short-haul freight.

United States state and local taxes paid in 1940 were more than 45 per cent of all wages and salaries paid, and 120 per cent of dividend disbursements, according to Investor America which based its estimate on a survey of 116 representative corporations for which the information is available.

If you are not using that old trombone, cornet, fiddle, flute, accordion from which you used to wring music the Englishmen here in the air force at Patricia Bay would like to get them. They are hungry for music and find it difficult to secure instruments. Alderman Davies has promised to try and find some.

Lecture Series On Astronomy

Astronomers will meet this year at Victoria College, instead of the Y.W.C.A. as in former years. An interesting program of lectures for the winter season has been arranged, the lectures stressing the fundamentals of astronomy for the amateur. An exception to this will be the first lecture given by the director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Dr. J. A. Pearce. This lecture will deal with the work of the professional astronomers, a glimpse behind the scenes on Observatory Hill. The meetings listed below are open and free to the general public.

CHANGES MADE IN POLICE FORCE

Appointment of George Clayard from the motorcycle patrol division of the City Police Department to the detective division was made by the police commission Tuesday afternoon.

Clayards started in the plain-clothes position today. A native son who joined the police department on September 1, 1929, Clayards will fill a vacancy in the detective department made by the resignation of Detective Percy Shakespeare due to ill health.

Mr. Shakespeare joined the department September 10, 1918.

He was made a detective January 16, 1930.

In addition to accepting the resignation of Mr. Shakespeare, the commission accepted the resignation of Constable Laurie Greenwood, who stated he wished to leave the department to take a position as inspector of motor vehicles under the Public Utilities Commission.

Constable Norman T. Galbraith and George G. Buckle, who joined the department last year, were given permanent appointment to fill the vacancies left by Greenwood and Clayards.

On Chief of Police John A. McLellan's recommendation, Constable Deans Blackstock was made a first-class constable.

The commission accepted the tender of the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Company of $367.20 for 36 new automobile tires.

It was recommended the City Council have the city purchasing agent apply for tenders for seven topcoats and 40 pairs of trousers for the uniformed force.

F. Collyer Heads Juvenile Football

F. Collyer was elected president of the Victoria Junior and Juvenile Football Association at the annual meeting held Tuesday night. Other officers elected were Fred Oliver, secretary-treasurer and chief registrar; Malcolm McCaig, committeeman.

Teams wishing to register are asked to file the names of their players with Oliver at 1030 North Park Street or by phoning G 4660. Entries must be in by October 16, when a meeting will be held to make final arrangements about the playing season. It was also announced that a referees' class would be held and applicants should submit their names to Oliver.

Ask Regulation Of Fuel Prices

Closer government regulation of the fuel business, to protect local users from excessive prices and to ensure for them an adequate supply, will be recommended by the city's business and trades development committee to the City Council at its next meeting.

Discussing the issue Tuesday, the committee, under Alderman Archie Willis, decided to recommend to the council that it ask the provincial government to place stove wood and sawdust fuel under the Coal and Petroleum Control Board to curb rising prices. The request will also include a clause asking the board to establish a definite size standard for a load of cordwood and a unit of sawdust.

Information will also be sought from the board as to whether or not the recent 50 cent a ton increase in the price of Nanaimo coal had been approved.

As a means of overcoming the possibility of a shortage in that type of fuel, the committee further decided to recommend to the council that it ask the government to set up a system of export permits which would guarantee an adequate supply for local needs before coal was shipped elsewhere.

RELIEVE SHORTAGE

Information was given the meeting to the effect the mill-wood shortage might be relieved considerably by the release of between 50 and 60 cords daily by one local firm. That amount had previously been withdrawn from the local market for power-generating use, it was understood.

The investigations into the fuel question will continue. Discussing the shipbuilding program here, the committee decided to ask R. W. Mayhew, M.P., to endeavor to secure more orders for two shipyards which are completing construction of four 84-foot wooden vessels. The yards are faced with the necessity of curtailing the fine crews they have assembled if further orders cannot be secured.

Take No Action On Wage Issue

No action was taken by the Saanich Council Tuesday night on suggestions of increases to wages of municipal employees submitted by representatives of the employees at a conciliation meeting presided over by James Thomson of the Department of Labor, Monday night.

Council representatives to the conciliation meeting, Reeve L. H. Passmore and Councillors G. Austin, J. Watson and K. Richmond, reported to the rest of the council the suggested wage increases would involve an outlay of $3,276 for the period of October 1 to December 31.

Reeve Passmore remarked he believed the wage issue commenced because the council gave cost of living bonuses to the lower paid employees and not the higher-paid group. Five-dollar bonuses were granted employees earning $100 or less a month recently.

"The majority of those who got the bonuses were single persons, I guess, while the married did not receive any increase," the reeve said.

Councillor L. Hagan asked if the issue would go to an arbitration board if the council took no action. He was informed affirmatively.

"Then let it go the whole way," he said.

"If we give increases as suggested we'll have the school teachers taking similar action," said Councillor Austin. "And can we, as a body of men, create a debt for the incoming council?"

Councillor L. V. Hobbs thought the present wage scale of municipal employees was generally fair.

"They are all eligible for superannuation, too," he said, "and the municipality is paying into the superannuation fund."

Motion that no action be taken on the issue was made by Councillor Hagan, seconded by Councillor Richmond and passed unanimously.

Purchase was made of property at Keating to be used as a gravel pit from Mr. and Mrs. A. Roelandt for $1,000.

An offer from A. E. Ames & Company for the municipality to sell $5,000 province of B.C. 4½ per cent bonds and purchase $5,000 province of Manitoba 5 per cent bonds was turned down.

The offer was that the B.C. bonds would be due April 1, 1944, at 108½ and accrued interest yielding 1 per cent and the Manitoba bonds would be due January 2, 1944, at 104½ and accrued interest yielding 3.20 per cent.

D.S.M. Awarded Warspite Sailor

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—A Boston-born British seaman aboard H.M.S. Warspite now in Bremerton navy yard, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for valor, it is announced here.

The seaman, Gunner William Pike, 24, has had three ships go down under him and found it necessary to kill a German sentry in an escape from a prison camp in Greece which led to 17 days of wandering before he rejoined British forces in Crete.

Pike told of being aboard the cruiser York when it was sunk by an Italian suicide boat.

"They're little bits of crafts, each packing 1,400 pounds of TNT and operated by a single man," he related. "There were six of them that came after us that day, but only two got through. I've never felt anything like the sensation I had when they hit us. It felt as if we were going straight up and then coming straight down."

He said the ship was beached but a 1,000-pound bomb finished her off.

The other two craft sunk under him were small craft used in the battle of Crete.

Telling of his escape from the prison camp, Pike said he used a plank buried especially for possible use, in dispatching the guard.

"Then I went over the wire. And for six days I lived on mussels that I picked up on the beach."

The specific act for which Pike was decorated was not revealed.

WITH ONE SOLID smack of his lethal-charged right duke, Joe Louis exploded, like mist before the morning sun, all the myth surrounding Lou Nova, his cosmic punch, dynamic stance and all the talk about being the "Man of Destiny." Nova proved just like any other of the Brown Bomber's opponents. A good smack on the button and he was all finished for the evening, regardless of his being a student of yoga. As far as the cosmic punch was concerned big Joe knocked the "S" right out of it.

Should Louis enter the United States army next month as claimed by eastern sports experts he will leave the ring with a record that may never be tied, much less surpassed. Monday night's scrap marked Joe's 19th heavyweight title bout since he succeeded James J. Braddock to the championship on June 22, 1937. Such activity by a champion was never heard of until the Detroit colored lad ascended to the throne that had seen such famous former soldiers as James J. Jeffries, Jack Dempsey, Bob Fitzsimmons, Gene Tunney and Jack Johnson—to name a few.

Unfortunately for Nova he left his chin as wide open as the proverbial barn door when he started pawing and sticking with his left hand. That was right down Louis' alley. Louis has always had no trouble with anyone he can hit. Louis just played a waiting game and when the opportunity came to explode that dynamite-laden right hand he made no mistake, although Joe admitted after the fight he had a chance to get California Lou in the fifth but passed it up.

At this time it is interesting to glance over Louis' remarkable record since that memorable night he lifted the title from the curly-haired Braddock. Here it is:

Seattle in Final

Blanks Stars Twice

Champion Seattle was in the final round of the Coast League Shaughnessy baseball playoffs against Sacramento today, after staging a rally as spectacular as when it overcame a 16-game deficit to capture the pennant.

The Rainiers went into their double-header with fourth-place Hollywood at Seattle last night, trailing two games to three—but blasted the stars 2 to 0 in both contests to take the seven-game preliminary series and advance to the finals. Sacramento, league runner-up, had already reached the final round by thumping San Diego four games straight.

The playoff for the President's Cup and $5,000 first prize money opens in Seattle Friday night, and will continue through Sunday. The two teams will finish the series at Sacramento next week.

SMART HURLING

A pair of brilliant pitching performances brought Seattle victory in both games of last night's double-header, when a single defeat would have knocked the Rainiers out of the playoffs. Ed Cole limited Hollywood to three scattered hits in the opener, while Charley Fallon's home run and Al Niemiec's score on an error brought in the winning runs in the second inning.

In the seven-inning nightcap, Dick Barrett yielded only four hits in winning. Dick Gyselman, Rainier third baseman, drove in both runs with singles in the second and fourth innings.

First game—	R. H. E.
Hollywood	0 3 1
Seattle	2 5 1
Batteries—	Tost, Bittner and Dapper; Cole and Fallon.
Second game—
Hollywood	0 4 3

When he successfully defended his title against Nova, Louis exploded one myth and upheld another. Over a period of 10 years any top ranking athlete whose picture has appeared on the front page of Time Magazine has always gone down to defeat soon after. Louis' picture made its appearance the day of the fight. He won. In the second case, no heavyweight champion has ever been beaten in a fight held in a New York ball park. Louis held true to form.

Speaking of Time Magazine, Louis received a fine tribute from that publication both as a fighter and citizen. We quote:

"Today, after four years of monopolizing the world's heavyweight championship, he is not only the idol of his race but one of the most respectable prizefighters of all time. From the sorry pass to which a series of second-raters had brought it (Sharkey, Carnera, Baer, Braddock), he restored the world's championship to gate and almost the vigor that it had in Dempsey's day.

"He did other notable things; he took on all comers, fought 20 times in four years, was never accused of a fixed fight, an unfair punch, a disparaging comment. 'I want to fight honest,' he has often told newsmen, 'so that the next colored boy can get the same kinda break I got. If I cut the fool, I'll let my people down.'

"All this did not make Joe Louis a dramatic figure but it stored up treasures in heaven and on earth for Joe Louis and his people. Joe makes no pretense of being a leader of his race. He knows his limitations. He is a good and honest fighter and a simple-minded young man. But intelligent negroes are grateful to him for remaining his own natural self and thereby doing so much to bring about better racial understanding in the U.S.—doing more, some of them say, than all the negro race-leaders combined.

"Loyalty has also kept Joe in the ring. He wanted to quit three years ago, after he had his revenge on Max Schmeling for the humiliating licking the German gave him two years before. He didn't because he felt he owed something to Roxborough, Black, Blackburn and Jacobs, the men who made him. But after the Nova fight, with a uniform on his big supple back, Joe may let the title go and be satisfied to defend his country."

Gophers Take Huskies

Before the largest crowd in the history of Pacific Northwest football, University of Minnesota opened its season Saturday by defeating University of Washington 14 to 6 at Seattle. Picture shows Bruce Smith, crack Gopher halfback, carrying the ball on an end run. Earl Younglove (35) is about to haul down the speedy easterner. Bob Friedman (66) Husky tackle, is coming in, while Heige Pukema and Dick Wildung are blocking for the runner.

Louis' Plans Are Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis couldn't quite make up his mind just where the right-hand shot he whistled off Lou Nova's whiskers fitted into the list of his hardest punches, but he and his fistic family were sure of one thing—the Bomber will not retire yet.

The entire Louis entourage said as much as it paraded into Mike Jacobs' office yesterday to pick up a $194,274 pay cheque for the six-round job he did in stiffening Louie the Yogi at the Polo Grounds Monday night, thus boosting his ring earnings over the $2,000,000 mark.

To be accurate, yesterday's amount probably is the highest prize ever paid for one punch, for until Joe fired the great big one in there in the sixth round, neither he nor Nova did a thing to earn their pay.

After settling up with Uncle Mike, Joe said he was ready to trade in his green suit and raincoat for the khaki and a private's $21 a month. But all hands insisted there's nothing to this talk that he's quitting the ring. Instead, he probably will come out for a tune-up bout early next spring, and then will tangle with Billy Conn in late May or June.

NOVA SEES DOCTOR

Since Lou was busy with a doctor yesterday, his manager, Ray Carlen, stopped in at Mike's office for the $71,765 the Californian received. Nova had to have his cut right eye attended by a physician.

Joe, meantime, will take in the world series this week, put on a horse show at Utica, Mich., after that, then make a brief exhibition boxing tour of army camps and finally enter the army late next month.

Joe's earnings for Monday night's fight boosted his take for 1941 to $458,917 for seven fights, the biggest year he's had since he started his pro career in 1934. In his eight years of knocking guys over, he has earned $2,180,484.

Baseball Series

All Square Again

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The wee world baseball series between Montreal Royals, International League kings, and Columbus Red Birds, American Association champs, was right back where it started today—all even.

The birds blasted two Royal moundsmen for 10 hits, including a double, triple and home run, last night to win 5 to 4, giving each club two victories and two losses in the junior diamond classic which continues here tonight.

The four-game players' pool amounts to $20,219.33, including $500 for the broadcasting rights, of which the winners will split $12,131.66 and the losers $8,087.67. With each club splitting its purse about 23 shares, each winning player will get about $525 and each loser some $350.

WINS CLUB GOLF

Miss Diana Fraser won the championship of the Ardmore Golf Club recently, defeating Mrs. W. T. Sisson in the final. 4 and 2. Miss W. M. Macdowell won the first flight from Mrs. H. Marsden, 3 and 2.

The C class championship went to Mrs. F. J. Baker, with Miss I. Payne runner-up. Miss E. V. Gwynne won the J. J. White Cup played for over 36.

Richmond Will Invade Trail

VANCOUVER (CP)—Archibald Holland, president of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, said here last night that the British Columbia championship finals between Trail Golden Bears and Richmond Farmers will be played in Trail, B.C.

It was originally intended that the opening game of the best of five series would be played in Trail Friday night, with the second game in Nelson Saturday night and the third game, if necessary, in Trail Monday night.

Holland said that the Trail club objected to playing in Nelson and that the association executive had therefore decided to have all games played at the home of the West Kootenay League champions.

Richmond Farmers, Intercity Box Lacrosse League champions and holders of the coast title, will leave here Thursday by bus for the interior city.

Harder Has Operation

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Mel Harder underwent an operation on his right elbow yesterday in an effort to cure the pitching arm trouble which has bothered him for several seasons.

Cleveland Indians recently released Harder but have indicated willingness to rehire him if the operation, performed at the club's expense, is successful.

Dr. Wallace Duncan said he removed a comparatively large chip of bone from Harder's elbow and expressed the opinion that the chip was responsible for the arm ailment.

JERSEY CITY, N.J.—Ken Overlin, 163, Washington, D.C., outpointed Wild Bill McDowell, 158, Paterson, N.J. (10).

Soccer Opens Oct. 11

The Victoria and District Soccer League will open its newest season October 11, one week from Saturday.

See Show for Aluminum Pot or Pan

Six hundred pieces of aluminum were collected at the Atlas Theatre Saturday when a show was staged for children who turned in any aluminum article. The admission "tickets" were collected by Boy Scouts who are pictured on their way to the aluminum drive headquarters with the assortment of pots and pans brought to the theatre by the young moviegoers.

Election Fight

Nomination Total In B.C. Reaches 156

British Columbia's general election campaign is officially under way today with 156 candidates nominated to fight for the 48 seats in 41 ridings that will make up the province's 20th Legislature. Polling takes place October 21.

After Tuesday's official nominations the Liberal government party has candidates in every seat. The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation is making its strongest bid to date with 45 candidates. The Conservatives have 44, but one of them, Canon Joshua Hinchliffe in North Vancouver, is not recognized by the party. The balance are Independents, Laborites and minor party representatives.

Conservatives failed to nominate Premier Pattullo's riding of Prince Rupert. There the Premier has a straight fight with G. W. Weaver of the C.C.F. A third candidate, Edward V. Ling, Independent, Vancouver, was turned down by the returning officer because his papers were insufficiently signed.

In the far northern riding of Atlin, Mines Minister W. J. Asselstine also has one opponent, J. S. Scott, Labor. In all other ridings there are at least three candidates for each seat.

NEARLY DISQUALIFIED

The appearance of two Conservatives in North Vancouver and near disqualification of E. C. Henniger, Liberal, in Grand Forks - Greenwood, highlighted nomination day.

At the last minute the North Vancouver Conservative Action Club put up Dr. A. H. Bayne as the official Conservative. Canon Hinchliffe, who was education minister in the Tolmie government, was nominated by the North Vancouver Conservative Association, but repudiated by the party leader, R. L. Maitland, K.C., because he did not fully support the party's highway commission proposals. There are five candidates in all seeking the seat formerly held by Mrs. D. G. Steeves, C.C.F., who is standing for re-election.

TELFORD AGAIN

Another local difference popped up in Vancouver East when Dr. J. Lyle Telford, ex-C.C.F. member, ex-mayor of Vancouver, filed as an Independent candidate. Dr. Telford was separated from the C.C.F. when he became mayor, and sat for two sessions of the last House as an Independent.

gent. He was formerly the running mate of Harold Winch, C.C.F. House leader, who he is now opposing. Arthur J. Turner, provincial president of the C.C.F., runs with Mr. Winch this time. Mr. Henniger was nearly disqualified when he arrived at the nomination place 10 minutes late, but his papers were subsequently accepted. He has a three-cornered fight, with T. A. Love, Conservative, and Allan Clapp, C.C.F.

12 WOMEN

There are 12 women standing for seats. Two of them are in Victoria, Mrs. Nancy Hodges on the Liberal ticket and Mrs. Clare McAllister, C.C.F. Mrs. Steeves, North Vancouver; Mrs. Laura Jamieson, C.C.F., Vancouver East, and Mrs. Paul Smith, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, are all seeking return to the House. The other fair sex candidates are Miss M. D. McBride, Conservative, in New Westminster; Mrs. Grace MacInnes, C.C.F., in Burrard; Mrs. E. Snowsall, C.C.F., in South Okanagan; Dean Mary N. Bolter, Liberal; Mrs. F. J. Rolston, Conservative; Miss Helena Guttridge, C.C.F., and Mrs. Katherine Ling, Independent, all in Point Grey.

ALL RUN AGAIN

Not a single member of the last House has dropped out. All are seeking re-election. But in the new riding of Alberni none of the three candidates has had previous legislative experience. The Conservatives did not name in Alberni and left the field to a Liberal, C.C.F. and Independent-Labor.

The new riding of Oak Bay has Herbert Anson, Conservative, who was on the Victoria ticket last time. In Saanich there is the situation of two members of the last House opposing each other.

Lieut.-Col. Macgregor Macintosh, Conservative, whose seat in the Islands was eliminated by redistribution, is opposing Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., Liberal, who was speaker in the last House, and Martin Neilson, C.C.F.

FATHER AND SON

There are two father-and-son combinations, both on the C.C.F. side. Harold Winch, the House leader, and his father, Ernest Winch, are seeking re-election. Harry G. Webber, in Esquimalt, and his son Bernard, in Similkameen, are seeking to emulate the Winches.

Says Workers Fear Coercion

Harry G. Webber, C.C.F. candidate in Esquimalt, charged at a meeting Tuesday night that there was indirect intimidation of road workers by the Liberal party machine.

He said C.C.F. sympathizers on road work who subscribed money to the party had to keep it secret because they feared loss of government employment if Liberals found it out. He said "party heelers" kept watch on the leanings of the workers and decided who should have the jobs.

Dealing with the war effort Mr. Webber said it was time Canada started thinking of man-hours instead of in terms of dollars and cents for the production of planes, tanks and the needed material. He said the C.C.F. was for full conscription of wealth and industry as well as man power.

Mr. Webber questioned how much of the current gasoline shortage was due to monopoly at the source. He declared gas-saving devices that had proved worthwhile disappeared. Inventions of this nature were tucked away in the patent office.

"Until we learn to use our resources fully we won't have a united war effort," he said.

C. Grant MacNell of Vancouver, who supported the candidate, demanded a greater voice for labor in the affairs of the country, illustrating what had been done in England. Most of the labor troubles in Canada were over the question of union recognition which was automatic in other parts of the Empire.

GRID MEETING

A meeting of the Saanich Canadian Football Club will be held Thursday evening in the Colonist board-room at 7.30. at which Coach George Deacon will give the boys a talk on the game. The scheduled training session for this evening has been canceled.

CARPET BOWLING

The Sons of England Carpet Bowling Club will hold a meeting in the S.O.E. Hall Thursday evening at 8. Members wishing to play in the league are requested to be present.

Pattullo Offers 22 Points, Won't Surrender Tax Rights

Premier Pattullo, in 22 paragraphs, outlined Tuesday the policy his Liberal government proposes to carry on in British Columbia if it is re-elected for a third term October 21.

The Premier numbered the paragraphs, which covered subjects ranging all the way from war co-operation with the Dominion government to adjusting educational costs, prison reform and road building.

Here they are in full:

1. To co-operate with the Dominion in war effort in every department of government, and to insist upon demobilization that ample provision shall be made for the rehabilitation of men from the military services into civil life so that never again shall we witness a debacle such as the recent depression.

2. To enter into agreement with the Dominion government to peg the provincial income tax for duration of the war to an amount approximating the provincial income tax received during the last fiscal year, with a single collecting agency, namely, the Dominion government.

NEVER SURRENDER

3. At the conclusion of the war, to enter into an arrangement to participate with the Dominion government in income tax upon a basis to be agreed. Your government will never surrender the right to participate in the income tax, but we want only one collecting agency.

4. To conserve our financial resources, live within our means and meet all obligations in full.

5. Having assumed costs of unemployment relief formerly paid by the Dominion, we must budget accordingly. The war has brought new demands upon the provincial treasury. Your government will endeavor to make all possible savings, but reductions can only be made in a large way by cutting out services now rendered. Anyone who tells you differently is only misleading you. We must endeavor to maintain essential services, which have only reached their present status by years of effort and the expenditure of large sums of money. We should strive to conserve our position in order that past effort may not be lost, subject always to the demands of our war effort.

6. To further the interests of agriculture, which is the basic industry of all industries, by practical assistance and scientific advice, and to encourage expansion of production, especially for war services.

7. Complaints have arisen as to the operations of the various boards created under the Natural Products Marketing Act. A Royal Commission has in consequence been appointed to investigate these complaints. The information obtained should be of assistance to all concerned.

8. To outline co-operation with industry in development of our natural resources—timber, minerals, fish, game and water power; and to encourage further expansion not only in existing agencies but in new endeavor. In this policy of development we must maintain present and formulate new measures where desirable for conservation of our timber, fish and game.

9. We believe that there is wonderful opportunity for British Columbia to become a great manufacturing province. It already occupies third place of the provinces in Canada and your government proposes to take every opportunity to assist in the expansion of industry, especially following demobilization.

10. To continue our efforts to maintain and extend markets for our agricultural products and all other products of our natural resources, and to endeavor to further the sale of B.C. manufactured products from the smallest operator to the largest.

11. To continue our efforts to improve the health of our people, both by curative and preventive measures. Preventive measures taken during the past eight years constitute a new record in health administration.

12. To maintain the most approved standards of education, to serve the most practical purposes as well as cultural.

13. To review distribution of educational costs and lighten the burden now upon land.

14. To continue measures for the protection of our workers in respect of wages, hours of work and conditions of labor, including youth entering industry.

15. Through our Industrial and Arbitration Act we have laid the foundation for collective bargaining.

HEALTH

11. To continue our efforts to improve the health of our people, both by curative and preventive measures. Preventive measures taken during the past eight years constitute a new record in health administration.

12. To maintain the most approved standards of education, to serve the most practical purposes as well as cultural.

13. To review distribution of educational costs and lighten the burden now upon land.

14. To continue measures for the protection of our workers in respect of wages, hours of work and conditions of labor, including youth entering industry.

LABOR POLICY

15. Through our Industrial and Arbitration Act we have laid the foundation for collective bargaining.

PREMIER PATTULLO

ing and have paved the way for better relationships between employer and employee. We shall continue this policy.

16. Benefits have been increased under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and a Royal Commission is now holding public hearings which will be helpful in further consideration of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

17. To continue assistance to the aged and infirm, mothers under the Mothers' Pensions Act, and all others unable to help themselves, with such increases in allowances as may be possible.

18. To continue encouragement to the tourist traffic and extend as conditions may permit.

ROADS

19. To continue to improve and expand our road system as rapidly as possible to the extent of our resources. We believe that the Dominion should join with us in respect of trunk roads, especially after the war.

20. To organize the civilian population to assist in every branch of the war effort, and in particular to maintain and build up forces of trained civilians to assist the existing services in time of crisis.

21. To introduce, as far as lies within provincial authority, measures of prison reform, and to continue and widen the scope of the organized effort already successfully launched for the rehabilitation of youthful and other offenders where the opportunity exists, so that these offenders may be made useful citizens.

22. To continue and amplify the assistance being given in the formation, organization and carrying on of Credit Unions, which are already making a valuable contribution to community life, and which will be of ever-increasing importance, especially in meeting after-war problems.

HAD TO GO SOON

The Premier also stated why the government had appealed to the country at the present time. Specifically, he said, he wanted endorsement for the government's proposals dealing with the income tax, which must be sanctioned by the next Legislature, but in any event the life of the assembly would have expired within a few months as it was already in its fifth year.

He discussed the B.C.-Yukon-Alaska Highway, and said:

"I do not imagine that it will be built immediately unless military reasons so dictate, but in any event it constitutes an important project for after-the-war work."

He said the most necessary road from a military standpoint right now was completion of the highway linking Prince Rupert with the Alberta boundary.

OIL DRILLING

The Premier conceded oil drilling operations at Commotion Creek, in the Peace River, had met with mishaps, but said he was more convinced than ever of huge oil potentialities in that part of the province and believed it was patriotic to continue search when the Empire needed oil. He said the government had no intention of entering the retail oil business if it struck oil, but would make arrangements for disposing of it.

Regarding the demand for cost of living bonuses for those on government allowances, the Premier first explained that his administration had repeatedly pressed on Ottawa the need for increasing old age pensions and reducing the pension age limit.

"If it is impossible to do this until the conclusion of the war in the light of conditions then existing, a substantial living bonus should be paid immediately," he said. "I have advised Ottawa that we are prepared to pay our share of any increase in allowances made, and the matter is still pending."

BONUS WAIT

He intimated that bonuses for civil servants and pensioners of other categories would have to wait at least until after the election.

"Your government," he said, "is giving careful study to the whole problem in respect of categories other than old age pensions. Its ramifications are many."

"A very large sum is involved and it is difficult to make final commitments until we have a clearer idea of what may reasonably be expected for the ensuing year, as well as what actions Ottawa may take as the result of war conditions. We expect to visit Ottawa immediately after the election and will then discuss these questions."

Repeating that the government's most important aim was to assist in winning the war, the Premier outlined, department by department, what has been done up to the present.

Comet Increases Brightness 100-fold

By LELAND E. CUNNINGHAM

Harvard College Observatory
CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The astonishing comet found in 1927 by Drs. A. Schwassmann and A. A. Wachmann of the Hamburg Observatory, Bergedorf, Germany, has again attracted the attention of astronomers by its unaccountable behavior. It is the first of three periodic comets found by the same pair of discoverers and is, therefore, called the first Schwassmann-Wachmann comet.

The orbit is unusual because it is more nearly circular than that of any other comet, and because it lies completely between the orbits of Jupiter and Saturn. The comet never comes within 500,000,000 miles of the sun; and it is apparently tailless. Observed every year since its discovery, its orbit is well determined and its position in the sky can be predicted closely for several years ahead.

Letter From England

No Food Shortage, But Strict Rations

Mrs. H. McAllister, 1411 Esquimalt Road, has received a letter from her sister in Warrington, England, describing the conditions there today. Of special interest is the food problem, amounts allowed each person, and the prices.

"It is not to say that the government hasn't enough food for us; but that is the only way to stop a shortage," the letter says in describing the rationing of foods. Prices of various foodstuffs is high. Dates, on the average, sell at 12 cents a pound, while one lemon costs six cents.

Only one of this type of fruit is allowed each family. There is no shortage of bread, one can buy as much of it as one wants, at the price of eight cents for a two-pound loaf. Potatoes sell at three cents a pound, with the new ones more expensive at 10 cents.

"I will tell you what our ration is for a week for two people. It is sure to interest you," the letter goes on.

"Half a pound of butter, half pound of bacon, one-quarter pound of margarine, one-quarter pound lard, one pound sugar, four sausages, one-quarter pound tea."

In telling of the eggs received by each person, the letter goes on: "... I received six this week; that is a big 'do' for eggs, it is often two, four or five. They are six cents each."

As yet there seems to be no lack of fruit. Canned fruits and fish are distributed weekly, and then in small quantities of a tin or two at a time. There has been no meat brawn, corned beef or rabbit for a year.

All the food must be purchased in the district in which the person is registered, thus assuring everyone that each is receiving his or her fair share. Beef, mutton, and pork are available, but the prices brightness represented a real change in the comet itself.

By September 15 the comet had faded at least two magnitudes, but a photograph taken three days later at the Oak Ridge station of Harvard Observatory showed that it had brightened to the 11th magnitude! In this short interval its brightness had, therefore, increased at least thirty-fold, and its appearance had changed markedly. When faint it appeared as a nebulous patch, but after it had brightened it appeared almost star-like.

Such outbursts have occurred several times before. The original discovery in 1927 occurred during one of them. In 1931 while looking over old photographs Dr. K. Reinmuth found images of a comet on four plates taken in 1902 at the Konigstuhl Observatory, Heidelberg, Germany. These were later shown to be images of the first Schwassmann-Wachmann comet. Since 1927 perhaps a dozen outbursts have been observed. It is probable that several more occurred during the times when the comet was not being watched. The cause of these outbursts is not known.

Soon it was noticed that the positions and motion of the new comet were those predicted for the first Schwassmann-Wachmann comet, which Prof. G. Van Biesbroeck of the Yerkes Observatory had observed only a few weeks before at the 18th magnitude! In this time the distance of the comet from the sun and earth had changed but little, so that this hundred-fold increase in pound, "but," as the writer says, "... if the Germans were here we should not get that. The Germans are not going to win, the workers will see to that. We are not miserable over the war ... that is what the Germans can't understand, the English pride and the bulldog breed."

Mention is made of the revenge on Germany in the form of intensified air raids by the R.A.F.

The plans for an oil pipe line from Texas to New York would bring 250,000 or more barrels of gasoline or light fuel oil to the east a day.

Markets Probe Covers All Phases

The Royal Commission inquiry into operation of marketing boards in B.C. to be carried out by Judge A. M. Harper will extend to the conduct of marketing agencies and into elections of boards, it was disclosed in terms of reference for the inquiry approved today by the provincial government.

Judge Harper is expected to get the inquiry under way shortly. The three main clauses in the commission's reference are as follows:

(1) The operations generally of the marketing boards constituted under Section 4 of the (Natural Products Marketing) Act, and of the agencies designated by them, including any order, rule or regulation made by any such marketing board, any transaction or other business done by any such marketing board or by any agency designated by any such marketing board, and any refusal of any such marketing board to make any order, rule or regulation, and the results of the operation of any such marketing board.

(2) Any complaint concerning the administration or policy of any marketing board.

(3) Any act or thing done by any agency designated by any marketing board or by any person connected with such agency with respect to any election of members of any such marketing board.

The commissioner is also given additional general powers to inquire into any facts that he thinks may be relevant to help him carry out the duties of the probe effectually.

Seven motorists were fined $2.50 each in City Police Court today on parking charges. An eighth was fined $5 for not stopping at a stop sign.

Police are investigating a report Tuesday evening from Jubilee Hospital that a gypsy had taken poison, muriatic acid, apparently in an attempt to frighten his wife, and had been brought to the hospital, but had left.

A military whist drive will be held this evening at the Sir James Douglas School auditorium, under the auspices of the P.T.A. Mrs. Stevens and her committee are in charge, and prizes and refreshments will be provided.

Stolen Goods Charge

Charged in City Police Court today with unlawfully retaining in their possession two coils of rope and a quantity of fish hooks over the value of $25, the property of Cole Brothers Fishing & Packing Company, Ogden Point, Harry Ronald Smith and Albert Grey were remanded until Thursday when a date for their hearing will be set.

Stuart Henderson appeared for both men but told the court after today he possibly would appear for only one of the accused.

Police reported Tuesday morning the Cole Brothers' plant had been broken into and 1,000 fish hooks valued at $50, three coils of rope, $8 worth of postage stamps and three cheques had been stolen.

Detective Henry Jarvis arrested the men in a shack at Cadboro Bay Tuesday evening.

Tax Payments Climb in City

Through a flood of late payments made today, the city collector's department surveyed a $30,744 gain in current tax collections for the nine months ending yesterday.

Up to Tuesday night $1,108,666 had been paid over the counter and by cheque by property owners meeting their 1941 obligations. Last year at the same date the amount received was $1,077,922.

The gain was made despite the fact the levy this year is considerably below that of 1940.

It more than offset the anticipated drop in arrears collections. With far less outstanding this year, the city has collected to date $159,645 in arrears. At September 30 a total of $184,994 had been received.

The influx which started Monday in the collector's office continued today as citizens rushed to avoid payment of the first penalty applied on outstanding accounts tomorrow. That amounts to 1 per cent. Another of a similar amount will be applied on November 18. The final penalty of 3 per cent is added on those 1941 accounts not paid by December 2.

Metropolitan Men Hold Conference

Showing their sympathetic feeling towards this country in the present struggle, 276 field representatives of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company arrived in Victoria today to hold their regional convention. Henry E. North, San Francisco, said Victoria was chosen this year as an expression of American friendliness to Canada for its splendid effort in the war.

Mr. North, who is regional vice-president for the west coast, is accompanied by J. A. Smithies, superintendent of agencies, and J. O. Kline, assistant superintendent.

On the effect of the American rearmament program on insurance sales, Mr. North said sales had been stimulated. He said increased employment and more cash on hand had caused the public to seek safe investments. Although he is not in such close contact with the Canadian as the American situation, Mr. North thought Canadian insurance sales had been affected in a similar manner.

The delegates which are mainly from Washington and Oregon will review the past year's work and discuss plans for the coming year.

Big Jump Shown In Land Sales

During the first three-quarters of this year the city has sold $125,940 worth of reverted property, doubling the sales for the same period in 1940, figures released by Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, lands committee chairman, today disclosed.

The sales have been main revenue feature for the year, although other returns have boosted cash receipts since January 1 to $150,572, against $114,526 for the same period in 1940.

September figures showed a continuation of the improvement encountered throughout the year. Last month cash receipts totaled $19,475, against $8,795 in September, 1940. During the month just concluded, 32 parcels were sold for $18,876, against 12 for $3,677 in the 1940 equivalent month.

To date this year 276 properties have been sold, against 198 at September 30, 1940. The values represented by those sales are $125,940 and $60,169 respectively.

$3,529,432 Building In Greater Victoria

Construction values in Greater Victoria for the first three-quarters of the year amounted to $3,529,432, according to figures announced by the city and municipal building inspector's departments today.

Victoria remained far in the lead, values in the city being $1,695,375, a figure well ahead of the 1940 nine months' total of $1,333,954.

Saanich stood second in the running with total values of $941,873 against $661,337 up to September 30, 1940.

Oak Bay, third in the list, showed values of $616,552 for the year to date against $508,655 for the same period last year.

In Esquimalt the boom was even more pronounced, although the volume was lower than other municipalities. This year 70 projects have been undertaken worth $275,632 against 64 worth $115,417 in the corresponding months last year.

CITY

In Victoria 172 of the 823 permits issued this year were for houses other than apartments and represented values of $610,521. In the first nine months of last year 185 dwellings were included among the 587 projects, the values of the homes being $553,090.

The aggregate was boosted by a good September. Last month 96 permits were issued for work worth $116,792. Of that total, 17 were for houses valued at $56,385. The 1940 comparison shows 43 permits granted for $77,278 worth of work. They included nine homes listed at $30,075.

Last year's major undertaking during the first nine months was the $175,000 Mount St. Mary Hospital. In the nine months of the current year, McLennan, McFeely & Prior's $55,500 improvement on Government Street is the largest single job.

SAANICH

Saanich retained its leadership in home construction. Of the 656 permits granted 402 were for dwellings with listed values of $889,130. Last year 301 of the 511 permits taken out up to September 30 were for houses valued at $617,374.

Last month, 27 permits for homes valued at $61,935 were among the 65 permits issued for work worth $71,399. In September, 1940, 26 homes worth $53,650 were included in 58 projects worth $60,825.

OAK BAY

In Oak Bay, in September, 1940, permits were issued for seven dwellings; in September, 1941, for 10. The value of the dwellings in September, 1940, was $24,450, and last month $34,600. So far this year 153 building permits for residences valued at $565,252 have been issued. One hundred and thirty-three permits were issued during the first nine months of 1940. The value of the permits for dwellings in 1940 was $479,270.

The average cost of dwellings built this year is $93 greater than last year.

ESQUIMALT

A busy September pushed Esquimalt well ahead of the corresponding nine months last year. Last month seven permits were granted for work worth $137,850 against six for $8,350 in September, 1940. Of the month's permits six went for houses worth $19,850, against three for dwellings worth $7,900 in 1940.

During the nine months ending yesterday 45 dwellings were started at a listed cost of $150,507, against 36 valued at $94,710 for the equivalent 1940 period.

Archduke Otto Outlines Peace Plan for Europe

Archduke Francis Joseph Otto of Austria told in an interview in Victoria today of his trying experiences and escape from Belgium at the time of the Nazi invasion, and outlined his plan for peace in Europe.

Medium height, dark, close shaven except for a mustache, the young Archduke is accompanied by Count Henri Dugenefeld and Prof. Gassmer, formerly of Vienna and Rome universities.

This evening Archduke Otto will address the Canadian Institute of International Affairs and tomorrow he will speak at the Rotary Club.

In a soft voice, rich with foreign accent but easily understood, the Archduke said he had gone to Belgium early in May to complete a lot of work that had accumulated while he was in America.

"Belgium secret agents had warned that Germany would attack on May 24," he said. "Everything was very ordinary the night of May 9. I had no indication of the attack until I received a telephone call from a foreign embassy. Even then, at about 11, it was just a rumor."

Soon after midnight, the Archduke recalled, five Messerschmitts flew over Brussels in formation. The peculiar thing about it was they were flying eastward, he said. Later he learned that they were merely confirming the location of Belgium planes for the attack of the dive bombers.

"Brussels was bombed continuously from 4 until 10 the morning of May 10, Archduke Otto said. "The bombers came over in hundreds. All during the attack I saw only one Allied plane."

Archduke Otto escaped from Belgium to Dunkerque, and made his way later to Paris, only to be forced to flee to Spain when France collapsed. Believing that his name was on Hitler's arrest list, the Archduke made his way to Portugal and sought refuge in America.

Questioned on what sort of political organization would be necessary in Europe to assure peace after the war, the Archduke said Germany would have to be surrounded by a bloc of strong nations who would have to enforce disarmament. Although he does not believe Britain will have to send an expeditionary force to the Continent to win the war, he firmly believed that Germany, following the collapse of the Nazi regime, should be occupied by troops.

"In the last war the Allies won the war but lost the peace," he said. "Although France was victorious in the last war, her resources were so depleted that she could easily be defeated in this war. Germany was defeated, but quickly rebuilt herself. Britain must not only win the war but must also win the peace, and not permit Germany to become a military force again."

"The Archduke considers a union of the nations of the world would be necessary, not only to provide an international police force to prevent the rising of Germany again, but also to assist in the solution of world problems.

In speaking of his homeland, the Archduke said Austria should join with other countries to form an upper Danube bloc which, in turn, would be closely allied with the Baltic states and Scandinavia, but also with France and Britain. Only then would Europe be assured that there could be no second Hitler, he said.

Air Training Plan Will Be Doubled

MONTREAL (CP)—Air Minister Power disclosed the British commonwealth air training plan will be extended until the number of schools and airdromes already constructed is almost doubled.

In a speech to a joint meeting of St. Lawrence Kiwanis Club and the Montreal Chambre de Commerce, Maj. Power also said:

1. An exclusively French-Canadian squadron will be established overseas under a French-Canadian leader as soon as enough French-speaking personnel are obtained.

2. Aviation offers young men an "almost unlimited field of activity" and after the war aviation will make "undreamed-of strides in our country."

QUEBEC'S PART

3. Quebec will be called upon to play a "highly important part" in organization of air transport of the future. Already the province is the terminal of trans-Atlantic flights.

4. The new unfinished schools previously planned for the air training plan will be opened within the next three weeks.

Maj. Power, speaking in French, urged French-Canadian youth—"keen of sight and stout of limb, who have more than their share of courage and in whom there vibrates a deep sense of patriotism and honor"—to enlist in the R.C.A.F.

"There can be no better opportunity for the youth of Quebec of using to advantage the natural ability inherited from their forebears than that afforded by the Commonwealth air training plan," the minister said.

In a recent address, Maj. Power predicted Canada might ultimately be called upon to provide as many as half the manpower for the Empire's air force. Tonight he said:

"We have made headway; we shall achieve even more. The number of fliers in the schools will be increased by 25 per cent. Moreover, we have decided to go beyond the scope originally contemplated under the air training plan.

"We will expand its scope by building again almost as many schools and airdromes as we have constructed so far."

When the plan first was started, it was intended to build 67 schools. This figure later was boosted to 83 and still later to 89. Maj. Power gave no definite figure of the number of schools now contemplated under the expanded program.

ADVANCE PLANS

Preliminary negotiations designed to extend the life of the training plan past the nominal expiration date, March 31, 1943, began last month in London. It was said the extension was being negotiated because of the need for planning operations well in advance so an adequate flow of airmen could be assured.

"Canada is playing a foremost part in the vast drama that now has the world for a setting," Maj. Power said. "We have but reached the interlude. We owe it to ourselves not to disregard in any way the dangers to which we are exposed.

"The power that is ours to govern ourselves must not fall into Nazi hands... Nazism degrades, enslaves, plunders."

KIWANIS TO HOLD APPLE TAG DAY

In connection with the apple tag day set for October 18 and the sale of apples preceding it, J. J. Woods, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanich, addressed the Kiwanis Club Tuesday, telling of the history and importance of the apple.

Mr. Woods said that while probably 1,000 varieties are sold on this continent, only six varieties are suitable for this climate. He said it was possible for anyone to develop new varieties by planting seeds. The last part of his speech was devoted to a description of the development of the McIntosh red apple, one of the most popular varieties grown in British Columbia.

To form a base for the tag fund, Kiwanis members at the luncheon contributed 25 cents each. Ted Harmston, Andy Blyth, Herb Stevens and A. Campbell were winners of the four boxes given away. The proceeds of the tag day and drive will go to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

British Statesman Here Tomorrow

Geoffrey Shakespeare, parliamentary Under-Secretary for Dominion affairs in the Churchill cabinet, who sponsored the scheme to send British children here as war guests, is greatly impressed by the physical development of the children he has seen on his visit here and by the fact that all are happy and like Canada. He is shown here with

Peter Burt, six, who told him he had learned to "thwim," and Peter's sister, Doris, 11. They live with Mrs. Ross Dean and Mrs. Norman Dean of Toronto. Mr. Shakespeare will arrive in Victoria tomorrow and will confer with provincial health officials in connection with overseas children. A reception for the distinguished visitor, at which guest children and their foster parents will be present, will be held at 11, Friday, at the home of Miss Sara Spencer, Moss Street. On Thursday, Mr. Shakespeare will address members of the Canadian Club at a dinner meeting to be held in the Empress Hotel at 6.30.

Fear of Russia Halted Hitler

"There was a time in the spring of this year in the Battle of Britain," Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, M.P., said Tuesday night at the Shrine Auditorium, "when the fate of the world hung on the thinnest of thin threads. There was a time when Hitler could have made a smashing invasion blow that may or may not have succeeded. What prevented him from doing it was the old bear, Russia, at his back. He knew the strength of Russia and he knew its hatred of Fascism."

The North Battleford, Sask. M.P. spoke to a meeting of the Victoria British Russian Aid Committee. She was introduced by Alderman W. H. Davies and spoke from behind a table over which the Union Jack and the hammer and sickle emblem of the Soviet were draped side by side.

Mrs. Nielsen continued by saying: "Now, when the German armies are up against the brick wall of Russian resistance—now is the time for Britain and the United States to strike a blow at Germany's back. Before Russia's entry into the war the possibility of a military victory did not exist. It does now."

APPEAL FOR AID

The speaker appealed for all possible aid from the democracies opposing Nazi aggression to the Soviet Union. She said if Canada did not give all the aid possible to Russia it would endanger the Dominion and leave a blot upon its national honor. Mrs. Nielsen mentioned the prejudice by many people in Canada toward the Soviet, attributing it to misleading propaganda.

"We should judge nations by what they do, not by what other people say," she said.

The North Battleford member made an appeal for greater labor representation in the government of the Dominion, telling the audience that the war effort was not being hurt by the widely-publicized strikes and sabotage by laborers but by those making profits out of war work contracts.

She asked that groups of men and women be formed in every city and town in the Dominion to co-ordinate in helping the war effort. She gave examples, mentioning that such co-ordination could be used in petitioning Ottawa to expel the Vichy representative in Canada, replacing him with a Russian ambassador. The speaker said that it might be wise, in view of British defeats in Greece and Crete, and the manner in which the Russian armies were bogging down the Nazi blitzkrieg, to obtain military advisors from the Soviet to train Canadian boys in modern methods of warfare.

As a result of Mrs. Nielsen's address a resolution asking for the full establishment of diplomatic, consular and trade relations between Canada and the Soviet, was unanimously passed and will be forwarded to the Prime Minister at Ottawa.

Mrs. Margaret Gardiner of the Youth Victory Club of Victoria, C. McKendrick, vice-president of the Island Labor Council, and Rev. A. E. Whitehouse gave short preliminary addresses.

CRUISING AND WASTING

Of interest to all is the formation of a special committee by the Chamber of Commerce to look into and investigate details for a conservation campaign among local merchants, in order to curtail their gasoline consumption.

Clearly it is the duty of every citizen to co-operate wholeheartedly by saving this precious commodity.

Britain pleads for oil. What is our answer to the plea? Observe a shopping day in our downtown section, note the dozens of private cars, stopping, starting, constantly cruising around and around, looking for a suitable parking space, and all the while using more and more gasoline.

After viewing this scene, I wondered if a well-regulated delivery system would not be a gasoline saver. For instance, one light truck, would handle 100 deliveries, providing, however, that the driver was properly routed and confined to a specific district. For a comparison, if 50 of the 100 orders so delivered were private car owners, who had been in the habit of driving to the city to make their purchases, then it would seem as if one light truck would do the work of 50 private cars.

THIS FREEDOM

Voices of men still free prophesy a good time coming, "if and when," for the world; and the noble aims they proclaim are not merely incidental to the victory we hope for. They are the bulls-eye of our target.

The freedom we are fighting for is no negative thing, no mere refusal for ourselves alone to wear the chains of slavery. This freedom is positive, active, constructive and inspires us to share with others the rights we claim for ourselves. Our common humanity bids us remember not only the poor and downtrodden in our midst and throughout the world of whites, but also the black man, the yellow man and the brown man as well.

Not only the whites but the colored also, not only Christians but Mohammedans and agnostics too, those who speak German and those who speak Papuan alike, all are fellow-men.

In a far more tolerant day than this a Roman nobly said: "I am a man; nothing human do I hold foreign to me." Great words, memorable words, to be taken to heart by all of us when once "the devil is dead." If we only do so, the second half of our 20th century may yet be a time of joy and peace, may heal the wounds of these latter years. At the moment the omens seem propitious. A little more endurance and we may see the first streaks of dawn. Even the old among us may yet, before we die, be able to sing as if it were a joyful psalm the Nunc Dimittis, "now at last, after a time of troubles, we may depart in peace."

"It is astonishing that there is still quite a remarkable demand for stamps. That shows that Hitler has not daunted the stamp collectors. This will help our cot funds for the secretary has more orders on hand than he can cope with.

"Please excuse a short note as we had an air raid in the early hours of this morning and that meant loss of sleep and, consequently, a bit of tiredness. Still we are not going to give up this struggle for freedom and we are determined to stand up to raids or anything else that comes along. ### NO TIME FOR FAIRY TALES

In regard to the letter written by Mr. D. Stewart of Victoria, B.C., and sent in to the Comox District Free Press, I would like to make the following statements for his enlightenment:

The Rowell-Sirois report was based on peace time investigations. At the time of the Dominion-Provincial Conference our country was faced with the grave situation of a war for the very survival of freedom in the world. The changes in our country's affairs dealt with in this report were too important and too far-reaching to be best decided under such trying conditions.

Our provincial Liberal government at once proved its unity of purpose with the Dominion government in the war effort by turning over great sources of revenue to be used by the Dominion government in the prosecution of the war.

The C.C.F. leaders are apparently basing their election campaign on unfounded criticism of Liberals, Conservatives and any industry or individual that does not coincide with their fantastic ideas.

It is utterly childish to suggest, as certain C.C.F. leaders have, that everyone else is lacking in the proper understanding of the fundamental principles necessary to manage our federal financial system in the most effective way possible in order that the war may be financed in the most efficient way.

The C.C.F. leaders have deluded themselves but they know there is not the slightest chance of their ideas being adopted, because their ideas on this issue and on several other issues are impracticable and unsound.

This is no time for the C.C.F. leaders to be telling the people fairy tales when intelligence is a vital necessity to win this war.

Another Form of Home Defense

With democracy triumphing in the present gigantic struggle, the homes of our country will be kept safe from outside destructive forces.

It may have been this threat which is making people take steps to protect their homes from within.

For this purpose, Canadians are purchasing an average of two million dollars of life insurance a week from the London Life.

Where it is necessary to create an estate for the protection of dependents, and the family budget has been greatly reduced by war obligations, life insurance provides the only solution for most people.

If you want to know why Canadians are turning to this Company in such large numbers, ask one of our representatives to show you how present day conditions are met by the London Life plans of insurance.

'Lick Hitler' Campaign Starts

WINNIPEG (CP)—J. Leon Lazarowitz, 35-year-old self-styled "King of the Hoboes," has started a campaign to "lick Hitler," and he has broadcast an appeal through the press for the aid of "other hoboos" in America.

Lazarowitz, national president of the Rambling Fellowship of America, today is a member of the Canadian (Active) Army, and he wants fellow-knights-of-the-road to join him.

The hobo king asked that this message be spread throughout America.

"I can not do this job by myself. I need help, so hurry up. Your services will be appreciated. This is our war, too. By wiping Nazism off the face of the earth, civilization will once more return to the world."

BACK WITH INFANTRY—Lt. Col. R. L. Denison, who organized and took overseas the First Canadian Tank Battalion in the last war, is now at Camp Borden. He has returned to his first love, the infantry, and is commanding A11 Infantry (Advanced) training centre. It was June of 1918 when Col. Denison took the First Canadian Tank Battalion overseas. Tanks were the latest word in warfare of that day and the colonel and his battalion were Canadian pioneers with armored fighting vehicles.

Home From England

EDMONTON (CP)—Seven members of the Canadian active army who have been serving overseas have returned to Edmonton. The men were invalided home for different reasons.

They are Spr. T. C. Carruthers, Bloomsbury; Tpr. W. (Benny) Tate, Edmonton; Pte. W. Scott, Edmonton; Cpl. J. Onufrychuk, Ponoka; C.Q.M.S. Alfred Gould, Edmonton; Spr. J. G. Kinghorn, Thermen, and Pte. F. Hamilton, Edmonton.

Gould, who was in two bombing raids, said the English people reacted to the raids "as if they were drinking a cup of tea." Gould said the morale of the Canadian army is high. Most of the boys are fed up with their inactivity, and expect an invasion soon, he said. "Not a Ger-and his song slides. The accompanists were Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. Warn. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the show by ladies of the K. of C. Auxiliary. Future attractions at the hut include a dance at 8 to-night, motion pictures Thursday at the same time, and another song and dance show next Sunday.

man invasion," he added, "but an invasion of Europe by the British."

Tate, who has been with a reconnaissance unit, said he was glad "to smell this clean air again," but "I'll fight for those people (the English) any day of the week."

The food in Britain is all right, said Tate, but worst of all is the shortage of cigarettes. "I never went hungry, always had enough."

Emmanuel Baptists

A fine spirit of fellowship prevailed at the Emmanuel Baptist Church Monday when members of the church and congregation attended a rally which commenced with a banquet served by the women's society. Rev. Wilfrid L. McKay, pastor of the church, presided over the informal meeting which followed. Vocal solos were rendered by H. C. Parfitt, baritone, and cornet duets by George H. E. Green and Ira Green, and humorous readings by H. T. Zala. Mrs. H. Thomas and Mrs. G. H. E. Green were the accompanists. Plans for the fall and winter work were outlined by representatives of the various branches of the church as follows: The deaconate board, G. F. Waites; trustees board, A. H. Marrior; Emmanuel Sunday School, Don E. Smith; Shelbourne Street Mission Sunday School, H. C. Parfitt; the choir, Mrs. G. Anstey; the Women's Society, Mrs. Wm. Rus-

Beard Opens His Election Drive

Stressing the danger of changing the government at this time, Commander C. T. Beard opened the Liberal campaign in the Esquimalt constituency at the Athletic Hall, Tuesday evening. He asked for a rallying of the people to the side of the government to win the war.

After introductory remarks by the chairman, J. F. Mesher, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Liberal candidate for Victoria, and Prof. E. S. Farr, candidate for Oak Bay, spoke before the main speaker.

"Only the present government has had sufficient experience to assist the war effort fully," said Commander Beard. He estimated at least two more years of war were ahead.

The speaker said the reason he had avoided politics formerly was sell; the B.Y.P.U., David Parfitt; the Junior Mission Circle, Miss Opal Abercrombie; the C.G.I.T., Miss Florence Rowley. Mr. McKay closed the evening with an inspirational address on "Our Task," wherein he emphasized the need of the church in this day being more evangelical, more missionary in spirit and giving, and more spiritual. Honor was paid to J. R. Wescott, a charter member of the church, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clements, members of 52 years' standing.

because he felt any political affiliation would impair his ability to serve his country.

Touching briefly on the farm situation, the candidate said problems were many and great. He stressed the need of study of farm problems, and said he intended to make a special survey of agricultural conditions in the constituency.

"Activity in the shipyards will go on after the war," the speaker said while considering the industrial problems of the riding. "Replacing ships lost in the war and those which have become overage during the war, will keep the shipyards busy," he said. He believed Esquimalt would be of great value in the rebuilding and expanding of the Canadian merchant marine after the war.

ESQUIMALT IMPORTANT

In considering the importance of Esquimalt from the military point of view, Commander Beard said he had continually pointed out the vulnerability of the province to attack from Japan, now aligned with the Axis, but his warnings had gone unheeded. He said Esquimalt with her drydock, oil stores, equipment, supplies and machinery may play an important part in the war.

"Through circumstances beyond my control I am not taking an active part in this war," he said. "But I am taking this opportunity to offer myself to serve my country."

Mrs. Hodges said that, in her opinion, two issues were paramount in the present campaign. First, the winning of the war, and, second, the winning of the peace and preparing for it. She advocated the return of the present government to ensure the winning of the war. It is in sympathy with the Dominion government during the war years, she said, and national peace demanded a government here which is in sympathy with the government at Ottawa.

In his short remarks, Prof. Farr said that in a time like this, when so much is in the balance, when so much depends on the outcome of the war, the individual is all-important. He said Commander Beard was a man who had the capacity and willingness to put his strength to the problems which confront the nation during and after the war.

"Like Churchill said to the British, we may even have to fight on the shores and in the streets," the professor said. "We don't know." He scorned rubber-stamp politicians and also a rubber-stamp electorate. He called for a fighting electorate to get behind the fighting candidate.

Miss Frances Dutton, accompanied by C. F. Boulter at the piano, offered two vocal selections, "Land of Hope and Glory," and "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor."

It shows Cliff Watson, then a 17-year-old lifeguard, when he skillfully made himself up as a beautiful blonde and fooled the judges for four rounds in the 1939 Toronto police beauty contest. Cliff saved his earnings as a lifeguard to pay his passage to England where he joined the Fleet Air Arm. Six months ago he crashed, suffering 17 fractures, including three skull fractures. ## Heading for Exile

Former Persian Shah Tops All Ex-rulers in Riches

By DANIEL DE LUCE

TEHERAN, Iran (AP)—When the rusty little British mail steamship Bandera left the desolate Iranian coast her No. 1 passenger was the former Shah of Iran (Persia).

He could look back upon his modernistic empire broken overnight by one wrong guess, but could look forward to an exile in the New World with millions of dollars to satisfy his whims—almost everything except a land to rule.

Among the royal refugees of the 20th century Reza probably left with the biggest personal fortune.

Estimates of his accounts in British, United States, continental European and South American banks run from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000.

WORTHLESS

Reza signed a letter giving his possessions to the new shah, his son, who promised to donate all to the state. But the ink was scarcely dry on his signature before deputies in the Iranian Parliament declared the document worthless if the government tried to recover his holdings abroad.

While parliamentary factions were demanding further investigation into allegations he had abused his power to gain wealth and that he had taken priceless crown jewels, Reza fled in a limousine from Isfahan to the gulf port of Bandarabass.

As far as Bandarabass the shah is known to have been accompanied by one wife (he was married four times, and the mother of the new shah stayed behind), Prince Ali Reza—who was next in line for the throne, four of his half-brothers, two princesses with their husbands and 13 retainers.

All were reported to have boarded the cramped British packet.

The British legation, one of the chief factors in deposing the former shah, arranged most of the details of his exit from the country.

The United States legation was consulted by courtiers regarding places in North and South America the former shah might visit. New York, Mexico City, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires and Chile were among ultimate destinations named by rumors.

LAVISH HOST

The former shah is a race-horse fancier, stock market expert, lavish host and mildly addicted to opium.

The commonest accusation from the former shah's enemies has been that he had an insatiable greed, but at the start of his reign, Reza, under temporary religious influence, proclaimed publicly it was better to be poor than rich, better to give all to the state than retain for private gain.

These discarded principles have been revived by the new shah at the suggestion of the government. Court circles say the former shah sent his son a commendation for his announced good deeds.

The new shah thus far has given approximately $6,000,000 to public charities and welfare services. According to statements in Parliament, he got $32,000,000 from his father's Teheran bank accounts alone.

The former shah, proud, sensitive, intolerant of criticism, lost his job primarily because he misjudged Britain.

When Britain and Russia both put on pressure for expulsion of Germans from Iran, the former shah let his ministers haggle, apparently believing he could play one ally against the other, as has been traditional in this buffer state between India and the Russian steppes.

Too late, Reza pleaded with neutral diplomats to tell Britain "I'll do anything they ask"—the Allied armies already had their command to advance into Teheran and thus precipitated his abdication.

His former intimates say that until he developed money-madness the former shah made state and family his religion. He liberated Iran's women from many Moslem restrictions. His philosophy was described as completely materialistic.

Connecticut has given its hybrid corn an historic naming system, earliest ripening varieties getting such names as Standish, Plymouth and Jamestown, and so on following American history with later ripening varieties until the very late corn is named Churchill, Roosevelt, Hull and Wavell.

ANDY HARDY FILM ON CAPITOL BILL

There's just one exception to Hollywood's land of make-believe, where lavish sets mushroom into being overnight and vanish but a few hours later. Maintaining an unusual permanence in surroundings that constantly change is a small, transplanted town named Carvel.

This is the home of the now well-known Hardys, making their latest appearance currently at the Capitol Theatre in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Life Begins for Andy Hardy." Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Ann Rutherford, Fay Holden and Sara Haden are back in their usual roles as Carvel citizens, while Judy Garland is guest starring in the popular series for the third time.

TOPPER TAKES A TRIP AT YORK

For the first time in her film career Constance Bennett is seen in a bathing suit on the screen! To most actresses bathing suits are as much a part of their wardrobe as shoes. But not to Constance.

The dislike hasn't been any fault of the bathing suits. The fault is Miss Bennett's. She quite honestly admits she's not constructed to show one off to advantage.

But for "Topper Takes A Trip," in which she is starring at the York Theatre tomorrow, the script placed Miss Bennett on the French Riviera, on the beach and in swimming.

RIO THEATRE

Edward G. Robinson, who usually takes underworld roles, plays just the opposite type in his picture "I Am the Law," now showing at the Rio Theatre. He portrays a district attorney who uses some of the stern methods of the underworld to end corruption and bring order to his city. Co-starred with Robinson are Wendy Barrie and Otto Kuger.

DOMINION THEATRE

An eternity of love packed into eight precious days, Columbia's "They Dare Not Love" ends its engagement at the Dominion Theatre on Thursday. With George Brent and Martha Scott starred, the new film is a romance told amid scenes of timely adventure. In the cast, in addition to the stars, are Paul Lukas, Roman Bohnen and Kay Linaker.

CADET THEATRE

George Formby, the star who has made such phenomenal progress during the last few years and ranks today as Britain's No. 1 comedian, is at his most brilliant in the new A.B.F.D. release, "Come On, George!" at the Cadet Theatre today.

'POT O' GOLD' OPENS AT ATLAS

Normally, James Stewart walks as though every bone in his body were about to ache. Thus when this slow-motion actor does a jitterbug routine it is something to write about.

But it happened during the shooting of "Pot o' Gold," James Stewart's comedy which co-stars Stewart and Paulette Goddard and is starting a run at the Atlas Theatre today. In the picture were Roy Lester and Jewel McGowan, president and secretary, respectively, of the National Jitterbug Association, believe it or not.

OAK BAY THEATRE

"The Ghost Train," Gainsborough's new film version of the famous comedy-thriller by Arnold Ridley, is on the screen of the Oak Bay Theatre.

Stoked to the brim with the hilarious fun of "big-hearted" Arthur Askey, who has delighted millions on the air, stage and more recently on the screen, this picture, Askey's third starer will be greeted by laughter which will drown the roar of the mysterious Ghost Train itself, around which the plot of the film centres.

PLAZA THEATRE

Clive Brook, last seen here in RKO's "Convoy," returns to the Plaza Theatre screen today in Columbia's "Wilhelmstrasse 110," sensational new thriller. Lovely Diana Wynyard is again starred.

Based upon material uncovered after months of research, "Wilhelmstrasse 110" dramatically describes the forbidden underground station whose indomitable messages of courage defied a hate-crazed tyranny for years, despite the reign of terror and the desperate manhunt which accompanied its every broadcast.

Heroism and Horror When Ship Went Down

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—A captain who went down with his ship, a radio operator who died after reassuring his mates that help was en route, a seaman who died from the attack of a shark—these were among the incidents related today by the 12 survivors of the motorship Ethel Skakel, formerly the Libby Maine, which sank in 10 minutes during a Caribbean storm.

Twenty men died when the Ethel Skakel foundered or in the subsequent two-day battle for survival against the wind-whipped sea. The survivors, 10 of them in sick bay, arrived here late last night aboard a coastguard cutter after United States navy destroyers aided by seaplanes had picked them off bits of wreckage.

The 1,811-ton wooden ship, laden with steel rails from Los Angeles for San Juan, ran into heavy weather which damaged her steering gear last Thursday morning, the survivors said.

HEROISM AND HORROR

From that moment onward, this is their narrative of the cumulative heroism and horror:

While attempting to switch from the electric to hand steering gear, first mate Harry Christiansen and chief engineer H. Little were injured and were taken below to their bunks. They never were seen again, for almost immediately the Ethel Skakel settled into the sea. The time was 9.10 a.m.

Third mate Francis Holmes, on watch, had no time to lower even a single lifeboat. Quickly he slashed the lines of one boat in a forlorn hope, but it banged against the bridge housing and fell bottomside up in the racing sea.

Capt. Hans Bied, who narrowly escaped the blow from the life-boat, stood at the bridge rail. That was the last any of his crew saw of him, for the whole bridge and deck housing were carried away by the storm. Those men on deck were hurled into the sea, grasping at any bit of wreckage which offered support.

Radio operator H. Carson, who sent out an SOS in the 10 minutes his radio shack remained in existence, clung to a floating bit of debris and shouted to his half-drowned companions:

"Don't worry. I contacted four merchantmen and the coastguard and they are all coming."

DROPPED FROM SIGHT

Then Carson, too, dropped from sight in the frothy waters. As time dragged on, one man insisted he saw a beautiful shore only a few hundred yards distant, and abandoned his crude raft to swim toward it. The nearest land was 120 miles away.

Another seaman named "Scotty" died to death after a shark or a carnivorous tropical fish ripped half the flesh off his leg.

The first rescue was made at 1 a.m. on Saturday by a destroyer called up by the navy plane.

Nazis Afraid Of Canadians

EDMONTON (CP)—Home on leave from a Canadian destroyer which conveyed war materials to Great Britain, and which recently rescued the crew of a German submarine, leading stoker James (Lofly) Smith of Edmonton, described the rescue operations in an interview.

An airplane which sighted the German "sub" and forced it to the surface with aerial torpedoes, signalled the destroyer which came to the rescue. The Germans seemed reluctant to come aboard, Smith said, but after the captain threatened to sink them unless they hurried, they lost no time in climbing aboard the raft which was lowered for them.

Once aboard, they said their hesitancy was due to the atrocity stories about Canadians which their propaganda ministry fed them, the Canadian seaman said.

A souvenir was a square tablet of hard white "dextro energen." One German told stoker Smith that was their daily ration of concentrated beef-steak. This food concentrate, he said, enabled them to go for a considerable period of time without regular food.

A NEW, TRIM, FAIRMILE ANTI-SUBMARINE BOAT was launched at an Ontario shipyard over the week-end and will soon be out looking for trouble, in coastal waters and in convoys. It is the QO 57, and is shown at the left in the picture, alongside the QO 57, previously launched. The boats are armed with cannons, machine-guns and depth charges.

Canadian Sailors Capture Nazi Seamen

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Scuttling of two German sea raiders and capture of their crews in the south Pacific was described here by seaman Sandy Blackburn of Belleville in an address to a service club.

His ship, an armed cruiser of the Royal Canadian Navy, was engaged in searching a number of islands about 400 miles west of Ecuador to ascertain that Nazis had not established a raiding base on the islands. During the search word was received from London of two German raiders in the south Pacific which were preying on shipping and were en route to a certain port to escort a convoy of ships to the Atlantic.

The cruiser encountered one of the raiders and "our 'A' guns hit her with the first blast," Blackburn said. The Germans set fire to the ship and "in their haste to leave the ship nine of the crew were drowned and the remainder rowed in their boats to our ships."

The second raider was sighted and dispatched in the same manner four hours later. "The crew took to the boats and came over to our ship, but five of them attempted a trick of hiding in a cabin and later tried to turn the bow gun on us," Blackburn said.

"They did not live to reach the gun as a 16-year-old Saskatchewan boy, under orders, mowed them down like five pins."

Remainder of the crew, consisting of 153, were taken aboard the Canadian ship. "Nine of these men were Nazis who had sailed on the Graf Spee and had escaped from camps at Montevideo. They had made their way across country and joined the raider at a western port. Also among the prisoners were a number of the Gestapo who had been in South America. These were put in cells apart from the other prisoners."

CAPT. R. N. STUART ON RETIRED LIST

LONDON (CP)—Capt. Ronald Neil Stuart, V.C., D.S.O., captain in the Royal Naval Reserve and general manager of Canadian Pacific Steamships in London since 1938, has been placed on the retired list, the London Gazette announces.

Capt. Stuart served as lieutenant in the R.N.R., during the first Great War, in command of Q boats and destroyers and received, in addition to the V.C., and D.S.O., the United States Navy Cross.

(Some years ago Capt. Stuart brought Ss. Princess Elaine to Victoria from her builders in Scotland.)

Atlantic Battle Going Well

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The captain of a British cruiser brought here for repairs says Britain's battle of the Atlantic "is shaping up reasonably well" and has been in her favor thus far.

"It's not settled yet," declared Capt. Harold Drew, commander of H.M.S. Manchester, "but such battle movements as have occurred so far have been in our favor."

The Manchester, one of Britain's newest warships, arrived at the Philadelphia navy yard last week for a "general refit-"

Surcouf Story Full of Holes

Canadian Press

One of the war's better tables was shot full of holes the other day when an official announcement revealed that the Free French submarine Surcouf was tied up in an American harbor. The Surcouf was "sunk" off the Atlantic seaboard of Canada weeks ago.

Out of a mysterious nowhere there came a fabulous story of this, the world's heaviest undersea craft, turning on the convoy of British and Allied merchantmen she was charged with protecting.

Stupified skippers had stood helplessly by as the fire of the Surcouf sent ship after ship to the bottom. Seven, possibly eight, vessels were in the throes of death before the concerted fire of other ships in the convoy mortally wounded the traitor herself.

So unfolded the story. High officers of the navy denied it utterly, but the streets of Halifax heard the details time and again. Men who claimed they had been in the unsuspecting convoy swore it had happened. Halifax girls were said to have received letters from the Free French crewmen saying their ship was no more.

Finally there came the announcement from the United States which removed all doubt.

The source from which the Surcouf story sprang will probably never be known. Many people think it came from elements seeking to discredit the Free French movement, possibly from Berlin itself through forces in Canada friendly to Axis ambitions.

The Surcouf came to Canada after the fall of France, and Halifax admired the 2,880-ton giant and accepted her Free French crew. British officers were reported to have been placed aboard her, although a wiry little Frenchman was once pointed out to a reporter as her commander.

British officers were supposed to have been aboard her the day she turned traitor out in the Atlantic, but the story tellers had an answer for that. The Frenchmen had overpowered them,

New York Stocks Papers Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying of specialties helped to keep today's stock market on fairly even terrain as most of the leaders remained in the background.

Steeles, motors, aircrafts and rails attracted little attention. Fair support was given an assortment of farm implements, rubbers, chemicals, oils and communications shares. Best gains in these departments ranged from fractions to around two points but they were reduced in many instances at the close. Dealings were slow, totaling around 350,000 shares.

A side-by-side rise in Western Union and Postal Telegraph led to the conclusion in financial offices that prospects for eventual merger of the two wire companies, which has been talked about for years, might have improved because of the national emergency.

Stocks on the improved side most of the day included Goodrich, Goodyear, Woolworth, Case, Deere, Dow Chemical, Phillips Petroleum, Allis-Chalmers, National Biscuit and General Foods. Snider packing attained a 1941 high.

247 Casualties

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty has announced 247 casualties were incurred in the loss of the 8,000-ton cruiser Fiji, sunk by dive bombers off Crete last May 27.

The list named seven wounded, four who died of wounds, two missing and 234 missing and presumed killed.

Australians Refused To Sail on Ship

OTTAWA (CP)—The recent incident in which a number of Canadian airmen refused to sail from an eastern Canadian port on a ship which they considered, offered unsuitable accommodation, was not the first protest by airmen against conditions of trans-Atlantic troops ships, it is learned at the Air Ministry.

Last July, it was learned, a similar but lesser incident, involved a party of Australian airmen who were traveling to Great Britain by way of Canada. The airmen are said to have refused to sail on a certain ship.

In the absence of Air Minister Power in Montreal, officials declined to disclose details of the incident.

"There was some smoke but not much fire," one official said. "There wasn't much fuss. It wasn't our baby anyway, as the men were not Canadians."

Admiralty Changes

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty has announced the King has appointed Rear-Admiral A. U. Willis to be commander-in-chief of the African station succeeding Vice-Admiral Sir Robert H. T. Raikes.

Other appointments announced included Rear-Admiral Rhoderick R. McGregor to be assistant chief of the naval staff and Rear-Admiral F. G. H. Dalrymple-Hamilton as flag officer commanding Iceland succeeding Rear-Admiral J. R. J. Scott.

taken over entirely and launched their nefarious attack.

So went the story of the Surcouf—until the other day.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Broad gains by barley values featured operations today on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Barley climbed as much as 2 cents over the previous close while wheat futures prices recorded minor advances in quiet trading. The close for wheat was 1/2 to 1/4 higher, October at 74 1/2, December 75 1/2 and May 79 1/2 to 79 3/4 cents a bushel.

Anxious covering following reports of additional harvest-drying rains in sections of western Canada's grain belt, together with good support from shippers and maltsters were credited with inspiring the barley advance.

In the wheat pit, light offerings and moderate buying by mills held values on the upside. No export business in Canadian wheat was reported.
